President Bids For Democratic Victory Rapping Isolationists

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4—(AP)—President Truman denounced his Republican critics tonight and declared the Democratic party "has done more to defeat Communism in this country than any other group, public or private."

A crowd estimated variously by police and auditorium officials at from 9500 to 11,000 persons gave the grinning chief executive a roaring welcome.

The havily-guarded President cut the cheering, clapping and bell-ringing short with the reminder that the Democrat party was paying for his radio and television time "at so much a minute."

He drew repeated applause from the crowd, particularly when he declared American leadership to repeal aggression in Korea is "the greatest step toward world peace that has ben taken in my lifetime."

A cry of "give 'em hell, Harry" interrupted the President at one point.

"I'm going to" he came back.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4—(AP)—President Truman lashed out at Republican critics tonight and declared that a vote for "isolationism" next Tuesday would be a vote for "national suicide" in the face of Communist imperalism.

In a free-swinging campaign address, the heavily guarded President said American leadership to repel aggression in Korea is "the greatest step toward world peace that has been taken in my lifetime."

And he said the Democratic party "has done more to defeat Communism in this country than any other group, public or private."

Mr. Truman said isolationism and "greater strength and prosperity" are the main campaign issues.

His speech, prepared for broadcasting over every major radio and television network, was the President's only avowed campaign address. Hundreds of policemen in and out of uniform were assigned to guard Kiel auditorium in a security aftermath to last Wednesday's atempt on Mr. Truman's life.

No Comment On Plot

The President made no reference to the assassination plot.

In solemn words, he declared:

"I believe with all my heart that in this year of 1950 our nation—the greatest republic the sun ever shone on—has taken the road the Lord meant for us to take 30 years ago."

It was 30 years ago, he said, that "the isolationists kept us out of the League of Nations."

And with all the fire of his "give-'em-hell" 1948 campaign he poured scorn on what he called the "isolationists" of today, although he paid tribute to the "many honorable men and women" in the Republican party who have backed bi-partisan foreign policy."

He declared that "certain vote-hungry Republicans" have waged a deliberate "campaign of lies" against government officials.

Registration Shows a Gain In Voters

Results of the recent registration for new voters in the city elections held at the city hall last week show, according to J. M. Bailey, city clerk and secretary of the board of registrars:

First ward, total 4152 as compared to 4139, gain of 13.

Second ward, 2508 as compared to 2501, gain of seven.

Third ward, 6895 as compared to 6753, or a gain of 141.

Fourth ward, 6873 as compared to 6870, or a gain of 3.

Heated Senate Fight in State

Few Close Fights On Over Seats In U. S. Congress

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 4—(AP)—Here it is the last day of the Missouri general election campaign. And neither the Republican nor Democratic state chairman was willing to get on the line with a specific election forecast.

This strange situation was on a par with other developments in a weird campaign.

Normally, the two state party chairmen are eager to give you their detailed views on how easily their candidates will win. They like to analyze the probable effects of the big city voting and what the various rural sections of the state will do.

This time Democratic State Chairman Charles M. Huttig said he'd try to assess the situation by Monday. He apparently was waiting to see how far President Truman would go in his St. Louis speech tonight in endorsing the Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator, Thomas C. Hennings, Jr.

The Republican State Chairman, William E. Byers, contented himself with a general statement that "the political situation in Missouri is rapidly clearing up." Then he forecast, in general terms, that Republicans would reelect U. S. Senator Forrest C. Donnell, elect William Barton state auditor and a majojrity of their congressional and state candidates.

Reluctance of the party leaders to get out on the prediction limb fits in with a complaint both sides have made throughout the campaign:

The voters aren't talking. And that has worried both Republican and Democratic campaign managers. Many brows have been furrowed trying to figure out what it means.

Both candidates have crisscrossed the state in hard, sound truck campaigns. Sometimes each has made six or seven speeches a day. And both sides have reported slim crowds at many stops.

Both wound up their formal campaigning tonight—Donnell in an off-the-cuff speech at a Jefferson City rally and Hennings at the big Truman meeting in St. Louis.

Estimates of the total vote in next Tuesday's election have ranged around 1,200,000. That would be fairly heavy for a non-presidential year.

Civic and party groups in many areas have been busy with get-out-the-vote drives. They have been trying to combat the lethargy

Arkansas Governor Meets The President

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4—(AP)—Arkansas governor Sid McMath kept a delayed appointment with President Truman tonight. Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the appointment, scheduled for Washington, was transferred to St. Louis.

Ross quoted McMath as saying he discussed development of the Arkansas river valley with Mr. Truman.

Annual C. of C. Meeting On November 21

Dr. Paul Weaver To Speak at St. Patrick's School

Dr. Paul Weaver, Dean of Religious Life, chairman of division of religion and philosophy, and director of Burrall program of Stephens college, Columbia, Missouri, will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. It is planned that the banquet will be held Tuesday, November 21st, 6:30 p. m. at St. Patrick's school auditorium.

Dr. Paul Weaver

Since 1934 Paul Weaver has been director of the division of religion and philosophy, Stephens college, Columbia, Missouri, and teacher of the nationally famous Burrall class at Columbia. He came to Stephens college at the request of its president following five years of graduate training at Yale university and undergraduate study at Franklin and Marshall college. He was appointed Dean of Religious Life at Stephens in June, 1948.

During the past fifteen years Dr. Weaver has lectured in approximately two hundred colleges and universities across the country and, in addition, has addressed important business groups—state and national conventions, educational associations—teachers and PTA conventions, etc. He has spoken annually on the Sage Chapel Series at Cornell university since 1941, and has appeared on America's Town Meeting of the Air. Dean Weaver is known to many throughout the country because of his radio broadcasts of the Burrall Class each Sunday morning.

He is a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the Missouri Academy of Science, the International Council of Religious Education, the American Philosophical Association, Rotary, and vice-president of the Missouri Association for Mental Hygine. He has contributed to the Christian Education, Religious Education, and P. T. A. magazines, and the Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. During the war he was called upon to help write a Student's Mannual of Philosophy for the United States Armed Forces Institute.

During the summer of 1948 Dr. Weaver made a three-month's tour of Europe, to study the religious, social and political conditions in Europe. He visited Germany, Switzerland, France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, England. At Combloux, France, he gave the address for the United States delegation at the International Student Service Conference, and there was appointed United States representative for the extension of International Student Service into the intellectual and cultural fields. He also attended the World Assembly of Student Relief, the Carnegie Conference on Mental Hygiene in London, and the first World Assembly of Churches in Absterdam.

On U. S. Committees

Dr. Weaver's interest in international affairs is indicated by his recent membership in two United States committees: The Reconstruction Commitee of the World Student Service Fund, appointed to explore the possibilities of cultural and intellectual emphasis in inter-university connections throughout the world; and the Midwest International Seminar Committee, appointed to plan the Midwest International Seminar in Denmark. He served as Dean of the Faculty for this Seminar held in Hasley, Denmark, July and August, 1949. The topic for the Seminar was "Meeting Human Needs in Modern Society."

In the summer of 1950 Dr. Weaver was director of the Inter-University Round Table in India and Pakistan; and the International Student Assembly. The theme of the Inter-University Round Table was," The Role of the University in Social Development."

Members of the Chamber of Commerce and their guest will have a treat in store for them when this internationally known speaker makes his appearance at the Annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet November 21.

'Phone Walkout Is Called Off

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4—(AP)—A crippling walkout of telephone workers in the St. Louis area was called off tonight.

The walkout started yesterday morning and had tied up non-dial telephone calls in the St. Louis area and seriously impaired the city's long-distance service.

D. L. McCowen, president of Southwestern division 20, CIO Communications Workers, which represents workers of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., issued a call at 8:25 p. m. for employes to return to their jobs.

An estimated 5,000 employes of the company had ben on strike.

Might Draft 140,000 More

Chinese Reds in Korea May be Cause for Call

By MAX BOYD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—Chinese troops swelling the Red ranks in North Korea may cause the U. S. army to draft more men during the first three months of next year than the 140,000 it has planned to call.

This would depend on whether the Chinese action results in prolonging the conflict.

As news of intervention by substantial Chinese Communist forces poured in from correspondents in Korea today, the Pentagon refrained from appraising the situation publicly. An army spokesman told reporters that he could make no statement "until we receive confirmation of Chinese units from General MacArthur's headquarters."

But a well informed official, who declined to be quoted by name, predicted that the army have to raise its draft sights for the first quarter of 1951 if Chinese reinforcements drag out the Korean conflict.

An army call for 40,000 draftees during December went to selective service headquarters some time ago. This December quota appears unlikely to be changed in view of the time required to carry out a call.

Any increase in the pace of the draft is expected to be applied during next January, February and March, when the army intended to take a total of 140,000 draftees.

This figure means an indicated quota of around 45,000 men for each of these months. The army could boost this to a much higher rate based on its indicated ability to handle more trainees; it is drafting 70,000 this month alone.

The news of substantial Chinese forces in Korea comes at a time when the administration is already considering a broadened draft to reach and maintain the 3,000,000 man military force proposed by President Truman.

Missouri Moose Elect at Joplin

JOPLIN, Mo., Nov. 4—(AP)—Election and installation of new officers of the Missouri Moose Association was held here this afternoon during the fifth annual convention of the association. It includes all lodges in Missouri and some in Kansas and Nebraska.

The officers are Carl Heine of St. Charles, president; Charles Titus of Kansas City, vice president, first district; Frank Casey of Cape Girardeau, vice president, second district; Jim Poynor of Joplin, vice president, third district; and Harvey J. McKnight of St. Louis, vice president, fourth district.

George Sallwasser of St. Louis was the retiring president.

Charge From Stassen of "Coddling"

Denounces U. S. Policy Before The Korean War

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 4—(AP)—Republican leader Harold E. Stassen charged tonight that because the Truman administration "coddled" Chinese Communists, American troops are now suffering their highest casualties of the Korean war.

Replying to President Truman's campaign speech in St. Louis, Stassen declared that thousands of American young men "are locked in a bloody battle with one hundred thousand Chinese Communists in the rugged mountains of North Korea."

This week, he said, American casualties have been higher than any week since the start of the Korean war. Then he added:

"I solemnly charge that this is the direct and terrible result of five years of building up Chinese Communist strength through the blinded, bewildering American-Asiatic policy under our present national administration.

"It has been five years of coddling Chinese Communists, five years of undermining General MacArthur, five years of snubbing friendly freedom-loving Asiatics, and five years of appeasing the arch-Communist Mao Tse-Tung," leader of the Chinese Reds.

Accused of Wastefulness

Stassen, 1948 GOP presidential aspirant, also lit into the home front policies of the Democrats under President Truman. He accused the Administration of "careless, wasteful financial policies" and of taking the American people down a "slippery inflation road."

"The hour has come when for the good of America a sweeping Republican congressional victory should be voted from coast- to coast," Stassen declared in a major GOP bid for control of the new congress.

Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania, was booked on a nationwide radio hookup (Mutual network) immediately after the conclusion of Mr. Truman's speech from St. Louis. The speeches built up to the campaign climax Tuesday, election day.

At the outset of his speech, prepared for delivery before a Connecticut Republican rally here, Stassen alluded to the attempt of two Puerto Rican revolutionists to assassinate Mr. Truman Wednesday.

"I say with deep sincerity," Stassen remarked, "that I join with with every citizen in America, of both political parties, in expressing commendation to the United States Secret Service for their alert and courageous performance of their duty in defending the President."

Attacks Foreign Policy

Stassen also expressed sympathy for the family of the White House policeman killed in the shooting affray, and for the two guards who were wounded. And he offered "prayerful thanks that the President is alive and speaking to the nation tonight."

But, said Stassen, "the shocking news of the fantastic Puerto Rican attempt on his life is overshadowed of news many times more grim from Korea."

Then Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, launched a sharp attack on administration foreign policy, particularly in the far east.

He said "The whole burden of redeeming the blunders in blood is thrust upon American armed forces weakened by a short-sighted, socialistically minded national administration."

The situation, Stassen went on,

Jennie J. Lewis Foundation Formed To Be A Benefit

Jennie Jaynes was a Sedalia girl. The family home occupied an entire block, Broadway to Ninth street and Ohio avenue to Osage. For many years she expressed a desire to do something for her home city. After she grew to womanhood she married Dr. Bransford Lewis and lived in St. Louis but never lost her dream to help Sedalia. That dream has now been realized and her estate estimated at approximately $100,000, will be made available for the establishment of an educational recreational center in conjunction with Liberty Park for the public.

Pursuant to the provisions of Mrs. Lewis' will Friday in circuit court A. P. Green of Mexico, Wm. H. Danforth of St. Louis and Elliot M. Stafford of Sedalia, acting through their attorney D. S. Lamm, applied for and the court incorporated the Jennie Jaynes Lewis Foundation. This step makes it possible, with the co-operation of the City of Sedalia, which is being given, to make the funds available for use.

Charitable Trust

The will of Jennie Jaynes Lewis left the remainder of her estate to Mr. Green, Mr. Danforth and Mr. Stafford as trustees of a charitable trust with power to form a charitable benevolent corporation to administer the fund. Mrs. Lewis in her will suggested "the establishment in the City of Sedalia, Missouri of a recreational or community center for the benefit of the people of that community" such project to be known as "The Jaynes Community Center."

The corporation is formed for the purpose of carrying out the objects of Mrs. Lewis' will and is given broad powers. Earl T. Crawford, appointed by the court as a friend of the court, investigated the purposes and reported favorably. As suggested by Mrs. Lewis the charter provides that the trustees-directors of the corporation have power to appoint their own successors. They serve without pay. The corporation has power to establish and maintain playgrounds including tennis courts, volley ball courts, football stadiums, and other play projects for the public and also to receive and use gifts, donations and bequests for said purpose. A number of Sedalians have indicated they will contribute property to the project.

Forces Of U. N. Fight Off Fierce Attacks By Bolstered Reds

Full Military Services For Pvt. Coffelt

Died Helping to Protect President Who Attended Rites

By JOHN B. OWEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—The White House policeman who died protecting President Truman from assassins' bullets was buried today with full honors of a fallen military hero in the presence of his commander-in-chief.

President and Mrs. Truman attended services for Pvt. Leslie Coffelt in the Army chapel at Fort Myer, and then followed the caisson bearing the casket to Arlington cemetery, burial ground of the nation's defenders.

Extra police were on guard Here and elsewhere, investigators broadened their efforts to root out every trace of the murder plot which blazed into light when two Puerto Rican gunmen trying to blast their way into Blair house Wednesday were felled by sharp-shooting guards. The pair were members of a violent anti-United States Nationalist group seeking independence for the island territory.

The affair suddenly devloped wider ramifications today when printed circulars appeared in St. Louis appealing for Puerto Rican independence. They showed up mysteriously in advance of Mr. Truman's flight from Washington to St. Louis for a campaign speech tonight.

Already the police guard in the Missouri city preparing for the President's visit had been doubled to 600.

The investigation apparently will not delay murder proceedings against Oscar Collazo, wounded member of the Puerto Rican pair. His companion, Grieselio Torresola, died on the spot with a bullet in his brain.

U. S. District Attorney George Morris Fay said Collazo's preliminary arraignment has been set for Nov. 21, and he expects to seek an early trial. This may come in February.

Coffelt, a 40-year-old army veteran of World War II, was given honors unstinted. And as President and Mrs. Truman neared the chapel for the services, a bright sun broke through the morning's heavy rain clouds. An open car filled with Secret Service men was close behind the President.

Truman Places Endorsement On Hennings

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4—(AP)—With 13 words, President Truman came through tonight with his expected plug for Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., Missouri's Democratic candidate for Senator.

Mr. Truman, who supported another candidate for the nomination, said: Here in Missouri, we are going to elect Tom Hennings to the Senate."

And Hennings, who was one of the 20 sharing the platform with the President at the big Democratic rally here, had some kind words for Mr. Truman.

But Hennings reserved his greatest praise for the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Hennings, who was a staunch new dealer as a representative in Congress, paid tribute to Roosevelt as "the most enlightened and visionary (Democrat) of all times."

In a speech preceding Mr. Truman's Hennings described the President as a leader "in a victorious battle to make the United Nations a workable instrument."

Secretary Snyder Is a Grandfather

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder became a grandfather today.

An eight and a half pound daughter was born to the former Edith Cook "Drucie" Snyder, now the wife of John E. Horton. Mother and daughter were reported doing well at George Washington hospital.

The baby was named Evlyn Spencer Horton, after her maternal grandmother.

The marriage of the cabinet officer's daughter last Jan. 26 was a gala social event, attended by the President and Mrs. Truman and other high dignitaries.

Donnell Resents Truman's Plug For Hennings

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 4—(AP)—U. S. Senator Forrest C. Donnell charged tonight that President Truman's intervention in the U. S. senatorial campaign in St. Louis constitutes "a serious threat to a fundamental principle of our government."

He said the government of the United States is based on a principle of three divisions of government—executive, legislative and judicial, but, Donnell said, should the executive branch be able to get election of what Donnell called a "rubber stamp" Congress the chief executive could control all three branches of government.

Donnell, is seeking reelection against former Congressman Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., the St. Louis Democrat whom President Truman endorsed in his St. Louis speech tonight.

Donnell in one of the few free-swinging speeches of this off-year general election campaign also accused the "labor bosses" of attempting to take over the federal government.

He said despite a prohibition in the Taft-Hartley law, St. Louis labor unions have contributed approximately $30,000 to the Democratic campaign fund.

High Ranking U. S. Officer Says Foe Has 300,000 Troops Along Boundary

BULLETIN

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS Korea, Sunday, Nov. 5—(AP)—Communist attacks on the North bank of the Chongchon river today threatened the vital United Nations bridgehead at Anju.

British Commonwealth troops were fighting to hold back the enemy. Fifty Air Force fighter bombers concentrated a "maximum effort" in support of the British, headquarters reports said.

Other fighter bombers and light bombers were being rushed to the area to help the ground forces battling the heavy enemy onslaught.

SEOUL, Korea, Sunday, Nov. 5— (AP) —United Nations troops, forming a solid new battlefront in North Korea, fought off renewed attacks Saturday from a revitalized Korean Red army bolstered by Chinese Communist forces estimated to equal three to six divisions.

An American officer said South Korean army authorities estimated that six Chinese Communist divisions had entered Korea from Manchuria to oppose the U. N. forces.

The statement came shortly after other American officers announced that one Chinese Red division was battling the allies in northeast Korea and equivalents of two other Chinese divisions were fighting allied forces in the northwest.

An American spokesman for the Korean military advisory group said Korean Republican officers placed the number of Chinese Communist soldiers already committed to the Korean war at 75,000.

Troops At Border

A high-ranking officer of the U. S. Eighth army said the Chinese Reds have probably 300,000 troops deployed along the Korean-Manchurian boundary and perhaps about 1,000,000 more within "committting distance"—ready to strike from their present locations.

The Chinese units identified in the northwest are only of battalion size, the officer said, but the total number of battalions identified indicates the Chinese strength there amounts to two divisions.

So far, he added, there is no "pattern of proof" that the Chinese are fighting as regimental or divisional units.

A U. S. Marine spokesman, however, said a full Chinese Communist division, operating openly as one unit, was identified in northeast Korea, around the Changjin reservoir.

General MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters said allied withdrawal strategy was "almost complete" in the big danger spot of the new U. N. front—around Unsan and Kunu inland from the west coast.

Field dispatches also indicated the situation there was about stabilized.

It was in this area that Korean and Chinese Reds had trapped parts of two U. S. First Cavalary division regiments and slashed to pieces elements of the South Korean Sixth division.

Half Of Trapped Escape

At least half of the Cavalry division's Eighth regiment had escaped from a Red trap sprung Thursday south of Unsan. An Eighth army spokesman said there was reason to believe that those still trapped would make their way out.

There was no further word from another First Cavalary unit, about half a battalion, trapped west of Unsan.

The First Cavalary division had gone to the aid of the South Korean Sixth division when both were hit sharply by a strong Red counter-blow Thursday.

Generally, the new allied front in northwest Korea followed a line beginning at Chongju on the northwest coast and running northeastward, just north of the Chongchon river.

The line held firm under Red pressure. Only slight changes were being made as U. N. forces shifted from their one-time running advance to a solid defense front.

A U. S. First Corps spokesman said Red pressure existed all along the Chongchon river line but "it is not yet heavy."

Six Rules To Help On Way To A Long Life

Proper Eating of Right Foods To Add To Health

By Alton L. Blakeslee
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—Science offers six general rules to help you eat your way to healthy long life.

They are summed up by Dr. Charles E. Dutchess, medical director of Schenley Laboratories, Inc., who has long been interested in gerontology, the science of aging.

The average American lifespan is rising steadily—to 66 now for men and 71 for women. Proper eating is one way to make these extra years healthier and happier, and to add more of them, he says.

The time to start the rules is now. If you are young, good nourishment means more chance of keeping body organs up to par and avoiding breakdowns.

If you already are 40 or over—and about 45,000,000 Americans are—it is even more important to protect your body mechanism against the wear and tear of age The rules call for plenty of lean meat, eggs, milk, vitamins, and essential minerals. You get them from a broad selection of meats, fruits and vegetables.

Ample Proteins

At 50 and 60 and beyond, the six rules become even more vital, Dr. Dutchess said. The rules, plus reasons from scientific evidence, are:

1. Plenty of high-quality protein, such as lean meat and egg white. Proteins supply the building blocks of nerves, muscles and other tissues, all containing protein. Proteins also help maintain the normal metabolic rate, the rate of energy use and build-up and breakdown of tissues. Your metabolism tends to slow down with the years.

2. A plentiful supply of vitamins, especially A, B, C, and you get them from meat, milk, eggs, vegetables and fruits. They also come in vitamin pills.

3. Get your essential minerals, including iron, calcium, phosphorous, manganese and copper. You find them in a variety of the basic foods.

4. Cut down on carbohydrates, the starches and sugars that mainly supply calories, the units of heat and energy. Since your metabolism is slowing down, you need fewer calories than in youth. An excess of calories causes fatness.

5. Guard against obesty, for it shortens life. Probably, says Dr. Dutchess, you should try to keep the ideal weight for your height recommended for you at age 25 or 30 on modern health charts.

Fatness means your heart has to work harder. The excess pounds add miles of capillaries carrying blood to these new tissues. Obesity also upsets the normal process of manufacture of certain fatty materials which seem to be involved in hardening of the arteries, one of the greatest single killer diseases. The fatty material getting the most blame now is cholesterol, an excess of it forms deposits inside blood vessels, narrowing and hardening them.

6. There's evidence that substances found in certain foods can help prevent this kind of hardening, by keeping down the amount of cholesterol appearing in the blood, Dr. Dutchess said. They include three B-complex vitamins, choline, inositol and pyridoxine, and a protein building block, methionine. They are supplied naturally in wheat germ, yeast, lean meat, eggs and milk. They also are produced synthetically and supplied in tablet form. Another aid being studied is rutin, a chemical from buckwheat and other plants, which helps keep capillaries from becoming too fragile.

Science is just beginning to find the knowledge of the food and drugs needed to put pep and vigor into American's extra years of life, and how to prevent old age diseases, Dr. Dutchess said. He foresees an average someday of 85 active, healthy years, with many persons living to be 100.

She's Target For a Target

NEW YORK—(AP)—Little Judith Frank was accidentally hit by a large sleeve — a 30-foot target sleeve towed by a U. S. marine plane.

Nine-year-old Judy was aboard a cabin cruiser in Jamaica bay, just off Long Island. The plane was coming in from a target practice run. The target sleeve was flowing behind. A mechanical release operated by the plane's pilot is supposed to cut the towline to permit the target to float down on the field as the plane lands. This time it didn't work.

Others aboard the small boat saw the sleeve coming and ducked to safety. Judy didn't.

She was sideswiped and suffered lacerations and scratches of the face, hand and head.

ECA Boosts Silver Mining

OSLO —(AP)— Norwegian silver production may be increased as the result of research at the government owned Kongsberg silver mines by the ECA technical assistance program.

The silver at Kongsberg is contained chiefly in low grade ore, with occasional pockets of nearly pure silver. It is hoped that methods will be found to mine the low grade ore more efficiently so that eventual high grade pockets may be found. The mines now operate at a loss.

WILLIAM F. BROWN
Democratic Candidate for Prosecuting Attorney

Owing to the duties of the office of Prosecuting Attorney, I have been unable to contact as many voters as I would have liked.

I feel that carrying out the duties of this office comes first, and campaigning comes second.

I appreciate the support given me when first elected to this office and the cooperation of the people of Pettis County during my two years in office.

Your continued support will be deeply appreciated.

Wedding Of Sedalia Couple

Virginia Blatterman Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Blatterman, 1720 South Ohio avenue, Sedalia, became the bride of Mr. Lester Palmer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Palmer of Syracuse, Sunday, October 15, in the little chapel of the First Christian church in Sedalia.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. J. W. Watts, before an altar of palms and white flowers.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. H. O. Foraker, at the organ, played a program of nuptial music, including the following numbers, "All for You," Brown; "Through the Years," Youmans; "At Dawning," Cadman; "The Indian Love Call," Friml; "I Love Thee," Grieg; Mrs. M. O. Stevens sang, "Because" by D'Hardelot and "Always" by Erving Berlin.

As a processional Mrs. Foraker played "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin and as a recessional, "Mendelssohn's Wedding March."

The bride wore a shadowed gray suit with black accessories and her flowers were orchids Mrs. Louis G. Hancock, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a suit of gold with brown accessories and her flowers were of roses.

Roy Wilson served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Charles Painter and Mr. Noha Skaggs of Sedalia. Mrs. Charles Mummert of Syracuse and Mrs. Morrie Schroeter of Monroe City were candle lighters.

The bride's mother, Mrs. G. H Blatterman, wore a suit of beige with black accessories and her flowers were of red roses. Mrs. Lester A. Palmer, Sr., wore a dress of black, trimmed in velvet and her flowers were red roses.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Blatterman. 1720 South Ohio avenue. The table was covered with a lace cloth. The three-tiered cake was decorated with a miniature bride and bridegroom and rose buds with silver leaves and served with punch.

Mrs. Webb Thompson of Knob Noster, Mrs. Bess Blatterman of Riverside, Calif., Mrs. Cordry Morris and Mrs. Della Blatterman served the refreshments.

Mr. Palmer has served eight and one-half years with the U.S. Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer are at home at 1720 South Ohio avenue.

Music Modes

Service of the Associated Press

Dr. Carleton Smith charged Friday that the Soviet and Polish governments "stole" the original manuscripts of Beethoven's ninth symphony and Mozart's opera, "The Magic Flute."

The director of the National Arts Foundation in New York termed those manuscripts "the most valuable musical treasures displaced during the last war."

"It is a case of outright robbery," he said in a speech prepared for delivery at a sectional annual meeting of the Kansas State Teachers Association, at Wichita.

Dr. Smith said a recent five-month search carried him into Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and 14 other European nations.

Some 10,000 "precious documents" were found, he said—but not the two specified musical manuscripts.

Both had been in the Prussian state library in Berlin, he said, but were stored by archivists in a Benedictine cloister at Grussau in Silesia—now a part of Poland—to escape Allied bombings.

He said he traced the manuscripts to this monastery, but was told by Polish nuns there that the boxes the manuscripts were in had been taken "to the east" by Red soldiers.

In Warsaw, he added, "competent authorities" said they had no information about the manuscripts.

"It is simply one more case of the Russians absconding with valuable items of Western Europe's cultural heritage," he charged.

Smith said creative endeavors east of the iron curtain are at a standstill, not because composers, painters, dramatists and writers do not want to follow the "party line" but because they are unable to find out what is wanted of them.

"The minds of totalitarian victims are definitely poisoned against us, but more than anything their masters fear any contact with ideas from the west. . . .

"The National Arts Foundation has been rebuffed in every effort to exchange art and artists with the countries of Eastern Europe."

Advocating greater funds for the Voice of America and all United States information agencies, Dr. Smith added:

"Influencing the minds of the Western Europeans is as important as feeding their stomachs. . . To us, it may not seem necessary to advertise God's country, but more facts must be sent out to counteract Soviet propaganda."

Hal Boyle Column

U. S. 8th ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Nov. 5—(AP)—There are some men in this world you meet but once—and they stick in your mind forever.

Such a man, to me was Lt. Logan Weathers, a lean, tall young tarheel from Shelby, N. C.

He had three qualities that have sent him far in life: A robust sense of humor, a kindly heart and courageous leadership. But the first quality probably would have kept him from becoming a general, he sometimes laughed at rank.

The second can now be remembered only with a sigh by those who knew his kindness. As for his third quality—the bright gift of valor—it brought him medals from his government and death in a far country.

The only day I ever saw him I didn't know the Lieutenant had won the nation's second highest award for bravery in the second world war. He received his distinguished service cross on Okinawa by drawing enemy fire on himself to save his company, and then reorganizing a shattered batallion and leading it back into the attack.

His sergeant told me about Weathers' valor in Korea. He had come out of Chinju when that southeast Korean city was a milestone in a massive North Korean drive to seize the port of Pusan in earlier days of this campaign.

Weathers and several of his men were among the last to leave Chinju. They were in a column of Americans retreating towards Masan, in the direction of Pusan.

"I never left a hurt man yet," the lieutenant said suddenly. And back into Chinju he went, with a jeep and a truck, to search for men lost from his outfit.

He found none, and had to shoot out two machinegun nests and winch his vehicles across a blown bridge span to get back out again.

I met him in a Masan hospital a few hours later, looking to see if any men from his company had been wounded. He told about the American retreat from Chinju in a cool, intelligent and impersonal manner I have never forgotten—like a historian who recognizes the importance of an event but who can detach himself from the bitterness of the moment.

I think it is a virture that good soldiers have, as well as good historians.

On a road leaving the city I met the deputy divisional commander. When I mentioned having talked with Weathers the general said: "He is a fine young officer. I pinned the DSC on him myself on Okinawa. And it should have been the Congressional Medal of Honor.."

That was the last I heard of the lieutenant for several weeks. It isn't every day that an ordinary war reporter bumps into a reconnaissance platoon leader whose ordinary job is to seek and locate the hidden enemy.

Then one night a military policeman—Cpl. Clifford M. Williams of Mansfield, La.—dropped into our press billet in Wegu. He had served earlier in Weathers' recon platoon and over a few cans of beer he told me the rest of the lieutenant's story.

"A few days after Chinju the lieutenant was supporting an infantry attack in his armored car," said Williams. "A rocket or artillery shell hit the car. It cut the assistant driver in half and it blew off the lieutenant's arm.

"A machinegun opened up on the car. The lieutenant crawled out and charged it. He knocked it out, too, holding his carbine in one hand. And then, well, I guess the people who owned the machinegun got the lieutenant."

For this feat Weathers was posthumously awarded a cluster to his DSC.

"One of our men picking up the dead found his body," said the corporal. "The lieutenant had been wearing a brand new pair of boots. But somebody had taken them off—probably the reds."

Later the lieutenant's widow wrote his outfit.

"She said that he had been a wonderful husband and father," said Williams. "But she said she couldn't help wondering sometimes whether he had died in vain. And that is food for thought—when you come to think about it."

The corporal tilted is beer can and lowered it."

"The lieutenant was a great kidder," he laughed. "He liked to tell us about the time he met a marine general. He said he told the general that if he would just issue a couple of packages of bubble gum to each of his marines he could easily smother two regiments of reds.

"You know the lieutenant came from North Carolina. He used to say 'when I get home I'm going to raise my own tobacco, make my own whiskey and crawl up on a tower every morning and spit on the state of Virginia."

The corporal chuckled. Then he lifted up the beer can and when he put it down his smile was gone again.

"I tell you," he said earnestly, "That lieutenant was quite a guy. He had more guts than any man."

That is epitaph eough in wartime. But I suppose each of us has his own reason for remembering a young platoon leader named Weathers—his wife, his corporal, his general, and a man who saw him only once.

U.S. 8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea —(AP)— Dollars alone cannot build an army.

It took more than American money to rebuild the Republic of Korea (ROK) army, shattered four months ago when the Reds crossed parallel 38 to open this civil war.

At that time there was a tendency in military circles to write off the South Korean army and its soldiers as undependable. But the ROK army stubbornly recreated itself into a real fighting force. And its tough little wiry foot soldiers were first to reach the Manchurian border.

The South Korean government got plenty of American economic aid in accomplishing this battlefield miracle. But Lt. Col. William F. Runge, Sanford, Fla., says the world has failed to realize just how much the patriotic South Koreans did to help themselves.

"These people are just beginning to find they can do great things," he said. "They have been led around and kicked around for too long like children.

"With some leadership and some technical advice and training, the Koreans can quickly show great progress and results in almost any field of endeavor."

Runge has had an inside view of what the Korean army has accomplished. He has been Korean Military Advisory Group (KMAG) officer here 16 months. Recently he was officially commended by the ROK department of national defense for his work as senior American military advisor to the ROK headquarters.

Each day he and Lt. Col. Yun Soo-Hyun, the ROK quartermaster, thresh out the problems of supplying, feeding and equipping the far reaching and mushrooming South Korean army. They work at adjoining desks and have developed a feeling of mutual respect and personal liking.

"Colonel Yun has one of the quickest minds I have ever met," said Runge.

When war started, he observed, the ROK quartermaster corps "was manufacturing 85 per cent of quartermaster supplies used by the Korean army. He added:

"But the withdrawal was so violent and rapid the men could bring back only themselves and their hand weapons. Great stores of winter clothing were lost."

However, rear area troops went up the road of retreat.

They braved small arms fire to salvage nearly 500,000 bags of rice, barley and wheat and many carloads of sugar, tobacco, cotton, wool and other items that would have been of great value to the enemy if captured.

Driven within a few weeks into a beachhead only one-seventh of the area of South Korea, the ROK managed to recruit, feed and train more than 1,000 new troops a day.

"The American Army supplied them with boots, ponchos, field jackets, helmets and canteens," Runge said.

"But in the first two months of the war, the ROK quartermaster corps made over 200,000 fatigue suits, 200,000 rubber-soled shoes, 250,000 sets of underwear, 200,000 fatigue caps and 350,000 pairs of socks.

"All of this was made in only two cities—Taegu and Pusan."

The ROKs now are busily completing manufacture of new cotton-quilted winter uniforms for the troops.

But the country isn't advanced enough industrially to solve the greatest shortage — transportation vehicles. Runge said:

"They have taken every available civilian vehicle and are buying all the trucks from Japan they can get—but it still isn't enough."

Talk To Club On Traffic Laws

The October meeting of the Van NaNtta Parent-Teacher Association was held at the school on Friday night with a large attendance.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the president, Mrs. Roy Alexander.

Robert Davis of the Highway Patrol was introduced and showed movie films on "Indian Summer," "Late Date" and "Our Gang."

A quiz test on trafficelaws and safety rules were given.

Mrs. Cary Ragar, teacher of the school, reported that a sum of $100.25 was realized from the recent pie supper.

Beer Can Makes Button

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—For lack of raw materials, North Korean forces may have been using discarded beer cans to make uniform buttons. One such button, with a beer label clearly visible inside, was received by the Blatz Brewing Co. here in a letter from Capt. George S. Long, commanding officer of an American artillery battery. He said the button had been ripped off the uniform of a North Korean senior lieutenant captured at Chongju.

Nursing School Re-Opens At Springfield

Announcement of the re-opening of the Burge Hospital School of Nursing at Springfield, Missouri, was made today by Horace L. Burgin, Administrgtor.

The nursing school will be affiliated with Drury College, where nurses in training will get their basic sciences. Pre-clinical psycometric tests will be given at the hospital begining December 18th, Mr. Burgin said. These tests will determine an applicants aptitude for the nursing profession.

Nursing classes will be limited to thirty girls. Special classrooms for the school are in the process of construction on the Burge Hospital campus on North Robberson. Among the subjects to be taught will be Nursing Arts, Social Science, Clinical Practice, Operating Room Technique, Dietetics, Pathology and Drugs and Solutions.

The first class will start Monday January 29, but subsequent classes will start in September. The training course is a three year course.

Burgin said the need for nurses is great—not only in Springfield, but in the entire Ozarks area. He said one reason the hospital attached such urgency to reopening the training school was the fact that the hospital is attempting to serve all the Ozarks area.

Arizona ranks first among western states of the Union in copper production.

A daily serving of potatoes provides as much as one-fourth of the normal vitamin C quota.

Red Cross Corner

November is the month of Junior Red Cross enrollment. The American Junior Red Cross is the junior membership of the American Red Cross and is Red Cross in all the schools of the United States, public, private and parochial. As part of the organized, humanitarian program of Red Cross it offers its members an opportunity to serve others, both at home and abroad, in peace and war, through adaptable channels that are correlated with school activities. Thus it forms a link between the schools, and the broadening circle of local, national and international society. Miss Margaret Egan, chairman of Junior Red Cross in Pettis county, states that the material for Junior Red Cross enrollment is now in all the schools in the county. The gift boxes for overseas shipment should be filled and returned to the Red Cross office, 410½ South Ohio, by December 1, if possible. Too much emphasis cannot be put on these gift boxes. The letters that come back to us from Great Britain and Europe, tell a story, both joyous and tragic, of the enormous happiness that these little boxes have brought and will bring to less fortunate children, who save for these boxes, would have no Christmas at all. . . Enrollment of both elementary and secondary schools is on a group basis. No individual fee is required. The enrollment fee is 50 cents for each elementary class room, and one dollar for each group of one hundred pupils or less in a secondary school. . . . We urge all parents to encourage in their children interest in, and enthusiasm for Junior Red Cross. It is a very great part of a very great institution.

According to those who have gone dashing off to the state capitol to assist the Mobile Blood Unit to take blood donations at the state prison is an unusual experience. But behind these trips is a lot of spade work, hours of telephoning, and, in case of the latest trip, last Thursday, November 2, two preliminary journeys at the crack of a cold dawn. In order to make connections with the group leaving Sedalia around seven, Mrs. John Coffey had to come from Spring Fork, and Mrs. John W. Sanders from Green Ridge, before daylight. Being Registered Nurses, this apparently was all in the day's work, and they joined the following for the trip to Jefferson City: Staff Aides: Mrs. Marvin Klein, Mrs. Georgia Holbrook, Mrs. Henry Niemann, Mrs. E. F. Strickler; Canteen: Mrs. Aubrey Curtis, Mrs. D. C. Davis, Mrs. Robert Hogan, Mrs. Harvey McFarland; Nurses' Aides: Miss Marie Fritz, Miss Rosalie Mountjoy, Mrs. Mary Schupp, Mrs. A. A. Studebaker; Nurse, Mrs. Emmett Sullivan; Registered Nurses: Mrs. John Coffey, Miss Cleo Hartnett, Mrs. John W. Sanders, and Mrs. Zeta Woodward.

This chapter is very proud of the work being done by the volunteers in the home care of the sick program. Last Thursday, Mrs. E. M. Stafford, Jr., chairman, assisted by Mrs. Emma Meier, committee member, presented the program to the Altar Society of Sacred Heart church, explaining the whys and wherefores of the project, and the great importance of the training. Mrs. Stafford informs us that Mrs. Richard Lambert, a member of the county liaison committee, has arranged for a class room to be set up in LaMonte. Sessions will start there Monday, with Mrs. H. A. Wade instructing. Registration is in order for future classes to be held at the Elks club, and for further information, call the chapter office, No. 618. With conditions as they are at the present time, a working knowledge of home care of the sick, is something that every woman should have. Don't wait too long to enter a class. You may need this knowledge sooner than you think. Register now. Then, when sickness comes, and it is inevitable, you will be prepared.

Former Mayor
A. H. WILKS
seeks election to Judge of County Court
Eastern District
on the Republican ticket.

This district comprises the City of Sedalia, Heath Creek, Bowling Green, Smithton and Sedalia Townships.

Mr. Wilks is a native Missourian and was born and reared on the farm. He has resided in Sedalia for 38 years.

He was district manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in Sedalia for many years.

In 1942 he was elected mayor and served for four years until 1946. Also during the war years, he served on the Board of Equalization of the County Court.

Mr. Wilks believes his background and knowledge of local government will be helpful in serving as judge of the County Court and will appreciate your vote and support.

UN Day Program Given By Club

The Flat Creek Extension club held its October meeting at the home of Mrs. E. R. Wilhoit, with 21 members and four visitors. Visitors were Miss Lillian Watkins, home agent, Miss Annalu Pine, assistant agent, Mrs. Florentine Bloss and Mrs. James Yount.

A contributive luncheon was held at noon.

Mrs. J. T. Edmundson conducted the afternoon business meeting.

Roll call was answered with "A secret ambition I once had," and reports were given by committee chairmen.

The club voted to send $5.00 to the Community Chest.

A short United Nations Day program was given, at which time a United Nations flag was displayed and another one, a gift of the 4-H club was flying over the school house.

Miss Watkins gave a talk on energy and labor saving practice. She also showed the best features in several kinds of electric irons.

Mrs. J. J. Wissman read an article on fall work in yards and gardens.

Pal gifts were distributed.

The November meeting will be with Mrs. J. W. Burnett.

Contribution Of Food By Club

The High Point Homemakers met at the home of Mrs. Frank Eck, Wednesday with an all day meeting.

After a contributive luncheon the business session was opened by the president, Mrs. Roy Fender.

Roll call was answered with "What We Are Most Thankful For." There were 13 members and two visitors present.

Mrs. Fender gave a talk on "The Poor Families of Europe" and clothing and food were contributed by members of the club for Germany.

Mrs. Alfred Stoffel and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson will serve for the 4-H November meeting.

The 4-H club was entertained with a hayride and wiener roast by Mr. and Mrs. James Rittman.

The club sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" led by the song leader, Mrs. Gordon Smith.

The P. T. A. has planned a supper at the school house for the night of November 17.

Mrs. Frank Ecks, game leader, led the games.

The meeting was adjourned to meet next month with Mrs. Henry Lamm and will be a Christmas party.

Girl Scout Leaders Return From Conference in Colorado

Mrs. Eugene Helman, Sedalia, route 4, executive director of Girl Scouts and Mrs. C. A. Freeberg, 912 South Osage avenue, vice-president of the Sedalia Council, have returned from Denver, Colo., where they attended the 21st Covered Wagon Regional Conference.

The conference was "Come along with us—to give Scouting to more girls, to give a strong, progressive, adventurous camping program, and to strengthen international friendship."

Some of the outstanding speakers who are nationally known in scouting, were Miss Marguerite Twohy, assistant director, field staff and Miss Agnes B. Leahy, director personal department.

Guest speakers were: Mrs. C. Vaughan Ferguson, national president of the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. and Miss Dorthea Spellman, professor, School of Social Work, University of Denver.

Large Crowd Present

More than 600 Scouts including professional workers, adult volunteers and senior girls attended the conference. Representatives from all groups participated in the program.

A major portion of time was spent in discussion groups which proved very valuable. Many common problems were considered and excellent ideas were exchanged.

Senior scouts from various sections of Colorado took part in a round table discussion of "What's Right With Our Program." This was most informative and entertaining.

Another effective contribution to the program on the part of scouts was a tableau staged by a group of Chinese scouts from Denver. Each girl was dressed in native costume characterizing various nations of the world and was [illegible] streamer attached to a large Girl scout emblem.

International friendship was the keynote of the convention.

Where East Is West

BERLIN—(AP)—It's a bit difficult for Staakeners to find their way through the east-west cold war. Staaken is a small western suburb, about ten miles from the heart of Berlin. Its eastern half is British, its western half Russian.

When Communists attack "western imperialists," East Staakeners look at the Russian sentries on guard in the western part of their town. For West Staakeners, the "West" is still the Russian zone, to which their part of the suburb was ceded by four-power agreement in 1945.

But the "East" is British East Staaken, to which their part of the suburb was ceded by four-power agreement in 1945.

But the "East" is British East Staaken, and, still farther to the East, lies West Berlin.

The National Geographic Society says storms probably sank more Spanish treasure ships than did freeboosters.

Sentenced to Education

PRAGUE—(AP)—This is a new case of making the punishment fit the crime.

A 22-year-old shockworker and amateur soccer player was banished from a game in Pardubics. He made an "indecent remark" to the referee. "Penal organs" heard evidence and passed this sentence: "He must enter the youth organization to . . . educate himself and grow politically so as never in the future to be guilty of a similar offense."

Thinks United States In Need of More Good Horses

By Vivian Brown
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 —(AP)— What this country needs is more good horses, says Ann Morningstar, 21-year-old equestrienne of Greenwich, Conn.

Miss Morningstar, a seven-time participant in the national horse show at New York's Madison Square Garden, thinks the United States should have better horses to compete at such blue ribbon events here and in Europe.

In particular, she is worried about the Olympics to be held in Helsinki in 1952. She explains:

"Many countries, some of them receiving U.S. aid, manage to bring beautiful well-trained horses here to compete. Because we haven't had a cavalry team since 1947, there are few show horses that can give outsiders serious competition."

She thinks that America, trying to build good will around the world, could help do it with horses. After all, she says, Americans are supposed to be pretty good at everything and what will foreign countries think if "we show up with a lot of nags."

Ann is a member of the International Equestrian Competitions Corporation, a non-profit organization formed by top amateur riders and horses from which an Olympic team may be picked for 1952. They are attempting to replace the disbanded U.S. Army team.

"We have some excellent horses in this country," she says, "but many are not available for show purposes."

U.S. Have Civilian Team

This will be the first time in the history of the Olympic games that the United States will have a civilian team. It also is the first time in the history of international competition that the federated equestrienne internationale rules have been modified to allow women to compete on an equal basis with men. Naturally, vivacious blonde Miss Morningstar wants to compete and she has a pretty good start in that direction.

Ann started riding in 1939 by renting school horses, rode her first horse to victory in 1940. She won the Alfred B. McClay memorial trophy for ASPCA horse show finals and in 1946 won the national championship of the American Horse Show Association while riding "Magic Luck," one of 39 times she rode him to victory.

Usually Ann rides somebody elses horse. She would like to have her own horses, but that is an expensive proposition. It costs about $90 a month for feed, blacksmith equipment and other incidentals. An amateur cannot win money in competition, although riding another's horse, one may accept a gift, she says.

Can anything deter the true horse lover? Ann says "no." One year ago her horse fell going over a fence and she was hospitalized with a shattered pelvis. Friends thought she'd give it up for good. But she says:

"I'm getting ready for Helsinki."

Swiss Plan Air Raid Shelters

BERN, Switzerland — (AP) — The construction of air raid shelters in new buildings is to be compulsory in urban areas thru out Switzerland under a bill submitted to parliament by the federal government.

The type of shelter envisaged would not give full protection, the message said, but the mass construction of shelters able to withstand a direct hit or the effects of atomic radiation would be too expensive for practical purposes.

Three hundred fifty species of fish have been recorded in North Carolina's waters.

Mechanical Respirator Made

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — (AP) — A mechanical artificial respirator has been developed for victims of drowning, electric shock, poisonous or suffocating gases, heart attacks and others whose breathing has suddenly stopped.

The new device, called a "Pneolator," delivers oxygen to the victim's lungs at a pre-set pressure. It automatically shuts off when the proper amount of oxygen has reached the lungs, according to the firm which developed the apparatus — Mine Safety Appliances Co.

There are approximately 34,000 competitive oil companies scattered throughout the United States.

AMHERST, Canada — (AP) — A record was established at the Red Cross blood donor clinic here when Constable Andrew Duff made his 35th donation. Several others were over the mark and a large number of new donors appeared.

Malaya Seeks German Goods

SINGAPORE —(AP)— Malaya is making plans to import many well-known prewar lines of German merchandise following the joining of Western Germany in the sterling area group. So far imports from Germany have been restricted to small items. But importers hope to bring out the well-known Opal cars and German beer.

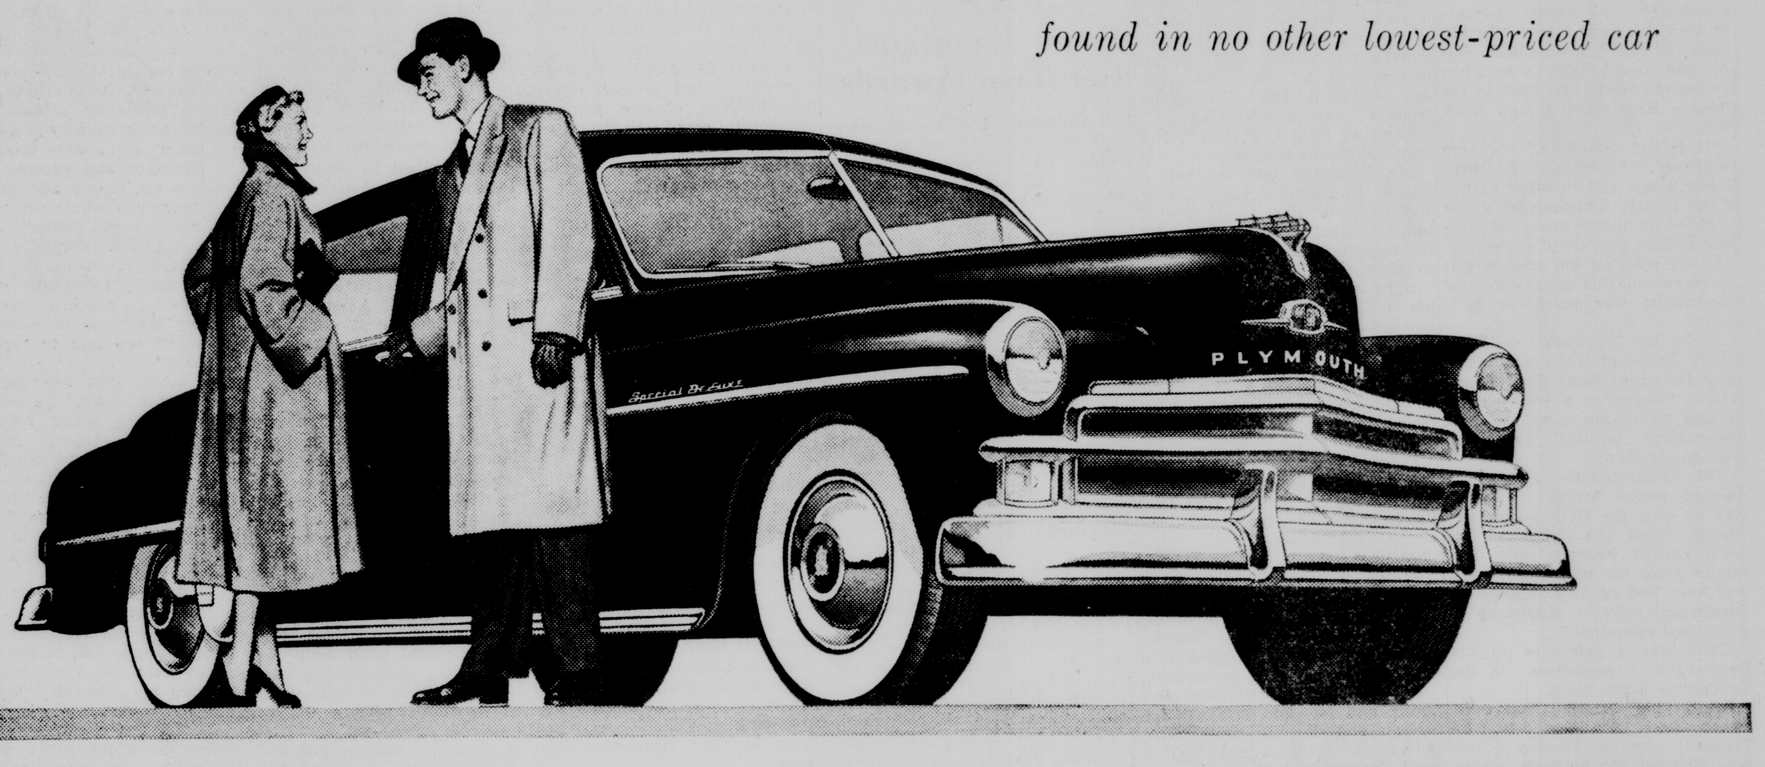
PLYMOUTH OWNERS ARE IN A CLASS BY THEMSELVES

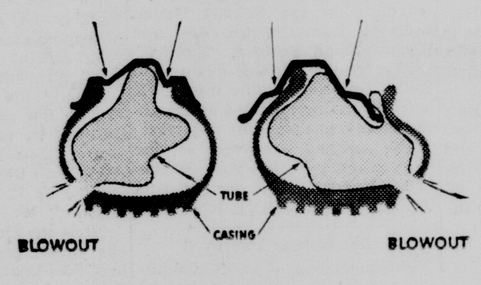
They get the benefit of outstanding features found in no other lowest-priced car



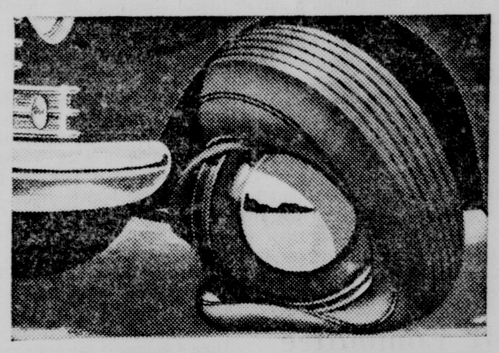
SAFETY-RIM WHEELS

This patented feature gives Plymouth owners positive protection from the danger of blowouts.

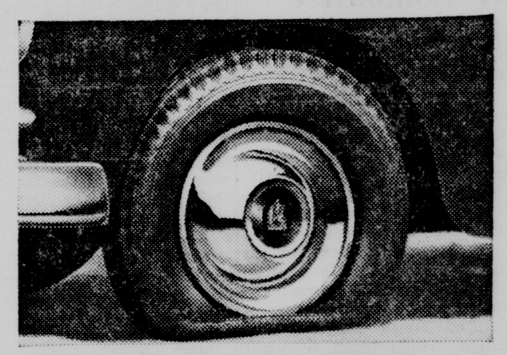
SAFETY-RIM WHEEL — Protective ridges hold tire on Safety-Rim.
CONVENTIONAL WHEEL — No protective ridges to hold tire on ordinary rim.



When a tire on the conventional rim gives way, you get this. The deflated tire twists and whips, sets up a drag on the steering wheel—may throw your car completely out of control.



When a tire on the Plymouth Safety-Rim Wheel gives way, you get this. The deflated tire is locked firmly to the rim, enabling you to bring your car to a sure, safe, straight-line stop. You have complete control of your car.

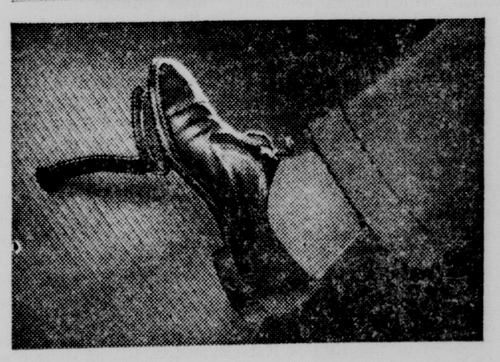


No other lowest-priced car—only Plymouth—gives you this vitally important protection

SAFE-GUARD HYDRAULIC BRAKES

When a Plymouth owner steps on the brake pedal with a certain pressure, he knows exactly what to expect. That's because Plymouth braking is consistent and precisely predictable.

Plymouth brakes have a total of six hydraulic brake cylinders (four in the front brakes and two in the rear brakes). This places most of the braking action on the front wheels where it's needed. Each of the other two leading lowest-priced cars has only four brake cylinders.



No other lowest-priced car—only Plymouth—gives you the sure, smooth stops of Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes

CHAIR-HEIGHT SEATS

When Plymouth owners go motoring, they sit in a natural position with a clearer, closer view of the road. That's because Plymouth is the only lowest-priced car with chair-height seats. You don't slump down on your spine with knees drawn high.

IGNITION-KEY STARTING

Just turn the key—that's all. The ignition is on—the engine is running—the automatic choke is operating—all at once! No starter button or choke to fumble with—no flooding or stalling of the engine.

ALSO, ONLY PLYMOUTH—in the lowest-priced field—GIVES YOU:

Charge From Stassen of "Coddling"

causes every American citizen to ask:

"How can it be? How can it be that five short years after winning a sweeping victory in World War II, so much of what we fought for has been lost, the bright hopes for peace have been destroyed, one third of the peoples of the world have been brought under Communist dictatorship x x x?"

The "mistakes" of the administration in foreign policy are not relegated to the past, Stassen said.

"The startling facts are that the same kind of mistakes are still being made," he added.

Elaborating, Stassen said it had "just been revealed" that when Mr. Truman last June ordered the U. S. Seventh fleet to safeguard Formosa during the Korean fighting, "he also ordered the fleet to break the Chinese Nationalist blcokade of the Communist Chinese coastline." He added:

"As a result, supplies for the Communist Chinese war machine have been flowing in, and are flowing in today in ships of every discription, including Russian freighters.

Refers to Copper Shipped

At that point Stassen referred to testimony to a senate committee that this year about 4,000,000 pounds of Japanese-produced copper had found their way clear around the world and back to the Chinese Reds from a New York port.

"It is not unlikely," Stassen continued, "that in Northern Korea today, and in other battles of the future, American boys will be killed by bullets made with this four million pounds of copper.

"I say with all the emphasis at my command, this appeasement of Communist war machines must stop."

As for Mr. Truman's trip to the Pacific island of Wake last month to confer with General MacArthur, it was "staged as a political escapade to obtain publicity" for the current political campaign, Stassen declared.

The administration's postwar foreign policy makes it clearer day by day, the GOP leader declared, "that the President has been caught between very bad advice from his state department and very bad politics of Missouri Pendergast machine moved up to a national operation."

That was a reference to the Democratic organization in the President's home state.

"It is now apparent that even at this late date that his (the Truman) administration will not take General MacArthur's advice on Communist China, and Formosa, and Indo-China, which are the three future trouble spots," Stassen said.

Referring again to the President's trip to Wake, Stassen said a Philadelphia carpenter with a son in Korea has commented to him:

"It looks like the President had more cameras along for his first meeting with MacArthur than our soldiers h ad tanks guns for their first meeting with the North Koreans."

CBI Committee Approves Act For Burma Aid

The meeting of the executive committee of the China-Burma-India Association closed in the Bothwell hotel yesterday with approval of the "Burma Resolution" which was passed at the organization's annual reunion held last August and referred to the executive board.

The committee will present this resolution to the next meeting of the United States Congress. The resolution, which urges economic and technical assistance to the nation of Burma, reads as follows:

"Be it resolved that the United States government encourage private industry to invest in Burmese capital enterprise. The Burmese government is in need of financial and advisory assistance under sovereign status in order to develop the economic strength necessary to stabilize the country."

Two major appointments were made in the higher echelon of the organization. Major General Smykal, commanding general of the 33rd Division of the Illinois National Guard, was appointed national public relations officer, and Baird Heffrich of Springfield, Ill., was named chairman of the legislative committee.

William F. Brown of Sedalia, national commander of the organization, presided over the meeting.

Pettis Countians Get Trip Awards

Five Missouri 4-H club members have been selected to receive Santa Fe Railway educational awards, according to Robert S. Clough, state 4-H club agent.

The winners are: Eddie Bashor, Union Star; Betty Klein, Sedalia; Joe Kukal, Bolivar; Forrest Reid, Houstonia; and Delmar Schowengerdt, Higginsville.

The awards will enable the winners to take an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, November 25 to December 1, inclusive. This is the twenty-seventh year that Santa Fe awards have been made to outstanding 4-H club members.

Tavern Owner Reports Robbery

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Arthur D. Ingert, 40, a tavern manager, told police that bandits robbed him of $6,700 Friday.

Ingert is manager of the State Line tavern, which has been the scene of many police raids by both Kansas and Missouri officers investigating reports of gambling.

Ingert said he obtained $7,000 to cash checks and was driving to the tavern when a car containing at least three men forced his car to the curb. Two of the armed men took $6,700 from his pockets, but missed $300, he said.

Hubbard Choir To Sing

The Hubbard high school choir will sing at the Ward Memorial Baptist church this afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, under the direction of Professor C. F. Moten.

Jury Finds for Defendant in Suit

A suit, filed by W. H. Fewell, a former Pettis county sheriff against John F. Taylor, now sheriff, in which the plaintiff asked judgment for $600.00 following an accident involving an automobile collision, in November, 1949, Fewell driving one car, Taylor another, was tried in the circuit court of Morgan county, at Versailles, Friday. The jury found for the defendant, Taylor.

Fewell filed an application for a change of venue, in February, and the case was sent to Versailles.

Harold Bamburg represented Mr. Fewell, Henry C. Salveter and W. H. Gibson were attorneys for Mr. Taylor.

Dance Given By Young Democrats

A hundred and fifty Democrats attended a square and round dance, the past week, which was sponsored by the Young Democratic Club of Pettis County. The dance was held on the second floor of the American Legion Hall building.

Joseph C. Potts, president of the organization, presided over a brief meeting and presented the speaker, Harold Barrick, who spoke on "Why I Am a Democrat."

James E. Durley made a review of the duties of the various offices to be filled in the November 7 election, and pointed out the qualifications of the respective Democratic county an dstate candidates.

Student Advanced Promoted In Rank

Richard Amos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Amos, 403 West Fifth street, a student at Wentworth Military Academy, Lexington, has been advanced from the rank of cadet to that of cadet Sergeant First class, on the basis of superior performance in military work and outstanding leadership. This was announced by Lt. Col. James B. Wells, professor of military science and tactics at the school.

The promotion, he said, was authorized after an eight-week try-out period when cadets were observed and graded on their ability to lead men, execute orders and assume responsibility.

Heated Senate Fight in State

of a year when the presidency and the governorship are not at stake.

Aside from the senatorial race, where the President is involved because he wants to oust Donnell, there is only one other statewide political race.

That is the competition for state auditor. The Democratic incumbent, William H. Holmes of Vienna, did little campaigning because he was recovering from a long siege in the hospital. His Republican opponent, William Barton, Jefferson City lawyer, has hit the campaign trail hard.

Voters also will elect 12 of the state's 13 congressmen (one is already in because he has no opposition), half of the state Senate and all of the state House of Representatives.

Both houses of the legislature are Democratic now. Some Republicans have said they would bring impeachment proceedings against Democratic Gov. Forrest Smith if they win control of the House.

Rep. Paul Jones, Kennett Democrat, is the one congressman already in. He had neither primary nor general election opposition in the heavily Democratic tenth district of southeastern Missouri.

But there are some close races in the rest of the state. Democrats now control the delegation 12-1. The one Republican is Rep. Dewey Short of Galena, regarded as a cinch for reelection in the traditionally Republican seventh district of southwest Missouri.

Hot Contest In Sixth

One of the hottest contests is in the sixth district of west central and southwest Missouri. It's a fringe district, sometimes Republican, sometimes Democratic.

The opponents are George H. Christopher of Amoret, the Democraitc incumbent seeking a second term, and O. K. Armstrong of Springfield, a former legislator. Christopher is a farmer, Armstrong a free lance writer.

Other close fights have been shaping up in the first district of northeast Missouri, the second in central Missouri, the third in northwest Missouri, the eighth in south central Missouri and the 12th in St. Louis and St. Louis county.

This may be the last time in years for Missourians to vote for 13 congressmen. Census figures show the state is due to lose two congressional seats next time.

A heavy absentee vote has been reported from several sections. It is attributed partly to get-out-the-vote campaigns and partly to a new law that makes absentee voting easier. A Missourian can vote now from anywhere. Previously he had to be within the state on election day.

This is the first general election test of the new law.

Polls open Tuesday at 6 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

Roy Rodgers Dog "Bullet" Injured

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 4—(AP)—Cowboy movie star Roy Rogers' dog "Bullet" was injured today in a trailer accident near Hamburg, Ia.

Bullet, a German shepherd, was traveling in the $25,000 trailer, used to transport the dog and Rogers' famous horse, "Trigger."

The trailer broke down and Bullet suffered a spine injury. He was hospitalized here and tonight reportedly was partially paralyzed

The mishap occurred as the "Roy Rogers Show" was enroute to St. Joseph for the opening performance of a 28-city road tour.

'Special Interests" Assailed

by Communists, the President said:

Claims "False Charges"

"These Republican politicians have maliciously and falsely made charges of disloyalty against some of our finest public servants. x x

"These Republican politicians have been willing in their desperate pursuit of this false issue to undermine their own government at a time of great national peril.

"They have been willing to destroy the U. N.

"They have attacked the bipartisan policy.

"They have lost all proportion, all sense of restraint, all sense of patriotic decency. x x x

"They want us to shut ourselves off from the rest of the world, and abandon our friends and allies. Any sensible man knows that such a course would be an open invitation for Communist imperialism to gobble up the rest of the world.

"If that should happen, the U. S. would be left alone to face the threat of Communist aggression. And the forces of Communism would have the manpower and resources of all Europe, Asia and Africa to use against us."

"Strength And Prosperity"

Isolationism, Mr. Truman said, is one of two main issues in this election., He continued:

"The other main issue is whether this country is going forward here at home toward greater strength and prosperity. Only if we are strong and prosperous at home can we do our part to bring about world peace."

On the domestic front, the President accused the Republicans of trying to destroy labor unions "through the infamous Taft-Hartley law" and of surrendering all along the line to "special interests."

"And just as sure as I am standing here," he said, "we are eventually going to get rid of the union-busting provisions of the Taft-Hartley law."

Mr. Truman flew here from Washington in the "Independnce" after attending the funeral of a police officer slain in his defense in last Wednesday's attempted assassination.

Extraordinary precautions were taken in Washington and in Missouri to protect his movements. The public was barred from nearby Scott air force base long before his scheduled arrival. Even press coverage was restricted. The Hotel Jefferson, where he planned to spend the night, was heavily guarded by armed men.

Predicts Hennings Election

Mr. Truman predicted the election to the Senate of Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., of St. Louis, whom he opposed in the Democratic primary. Hennings is running against Republican Senator Forrest C. Donnell. The President also forecast that his home state would send a Democratic delegation to the House.

"When we met here in 1948," he said, "the Democratic party was on its way to victory. Tonight, the Democratic party is on its way to victory again."

Praise To Barkley

He commended Vice President Barkley for a "magnificent job" of campaigning in a year when "the critical international situation" prevented the President's stumping the country.

"It is our party—the Democratic party—that saved free enterprise after 1932—when Communism was feeding on the misery and despair created by 12 years of Republican misrule," Mr. Truman declared.

"It is the Democratic party that has prosecuted Communism under the law and now has the Communist leader on the way to jail.

"It is a Democratic administration that has strengthened and united the free nations of the world to stand up and fight against Communism—to stand up and fight in Korea—and to win a smashing victory over Communist aggression."

Phrases Familiar To '48

The President repeated many phrases familiar from his 1948 stumping tour, such as charging the 1946 election resulted in "the Republican no-good, do-nothing 80th Congress."

Asserting the 81st Congress repaired the "damage" the Republicans did to farmers, Mr. Truman recalled:

"I said in this hall in 1948 that any farmer who votes for the Republican party is voting against his own interest—and ought to have his head examined. That was true then, and is true now."

Asserts Business Better

Today, he went on, business is "better off than it ever was."

"For a long time now the Republican party has been claiming that it was good for business," Mr. Truman said. "There is no evidence to support this claim. I am getting sick and tired of it."

He said the 81st Congress stopped Republican efforts to undermine unions, broadened and raised social security benefits and raised the minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour.

On some domestic issues, Mr. Truman was less specific than he has been in the past.

He called for "a workable health insurance system" without saying such a system must be compulsory.

Work For Program

He said merely that the Democrats are going to work for their program "without discrimination on account of race, creed or color."

On this occasion Mr. Truman did not call for all-out repeal of the whole Taft-Hartley act but predicted the repeal of its "union-busting provisions."

"The American people," the President said, "will continue to move forward—a mighty force—toward peace and progress. No little group of special interests or selfish politicians is going to be able to stop us."

Judicial Ballot In Election

Sedalia attorneys are particularly interested in the non-partisan judicial election which will be part of the general election Tuesday. The law, under which this election is held, is practically a new one, and one with which many voters are not familiar.

It is a matter of voting only on whether the voters want to keep the present judge in office, or whether they do not. There is no choice of naming another judge, because this is done by the governor from the names of three persons submitted to him by a judicial committee.

These persons are chosen by the committee, solely on their ability to perform the duties of a judge and hold office until the end of a certain term, when again their names appear before the people as to whether or not they are to be retained.

Two names appear on the special ballot this year. They are Judge George Robb Ellison, Supreme Court, division 2, Jefferson City and Judge James W. Broaddus, Kansas City Court of Appeals. They have been approved by ninty per cent of the members of the Missouri Bar Association.

Will Of Miss Swope Filed

The will of the late Miss Velma Swope, who died October 18, has been filed in the Probate court of Judge A. M. Harlan. The will was made December 20, 1947.

Heirs were named as her mother Mrs. Effie Swope, two sisters and three brothers. Her brother, Sydney Swope of Hughesville was named as executor of the estate.

John C. McCloskey is the attorney for the estate.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Ike L. Warren, 1009 West Third street, left today for Cleveland, O., where they will attend the Notre Dame-Navy football game.

Proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Missouri

To be submitted to the qualified voters of the State of Missouri at the General Election to be held on Tuesday, the Seventh day of November, 1950.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE

(Submitted by General Assembly)

Repealing and reenacting Section 11, Article X, Missouri Constitution, and in addition providing school taxes may be increased not to exceed three times constitutional limitation by majority vote for period of two years in districts in cities of 75,000 or over and one year in other school districts.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION submitting to the qualified voters of the State of Missouri an amendment repealing Section 11 of Article X of the Constitution of the State of Missouri, and enacting in lieu thereof a new section relating to the same subject to be known as Section 11.

Be it Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives Concurring Therein:

That at the general election to be held in the State of Missouri on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, in the year 1950, or at a special election prior thereto to be called by the Governor, there shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State for adoption or rejection, the following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Missouri.

Section 1. That Section 11 of Article X of the Constitution of the State of Missouri be and the same is hereby repealed, and a new section relating to the same subject enacted in lieu thereof, to be known as Section 11 and to read as follows:

Section 11. Taxes may be levied by counties and other political subdivisions on all property subject to their taxing power, but the assessed valuation therefor in such other political subdivisions shall not exceed the assessed valuation of the same property for state and county purposes.

Any tax imposed upon such property by municipalities, counties or school districts, for their respective purposes, shall not exceed the following annual rates:

For municipalities—one dollar on the hundred dollars assessed valuation;

For counties—thirty-five cents on the hundred dollars assessed valuation in counties having three hundred million dollars, or more, assessed valuation, and fifty cents on the hundred dollars assessed valuation in all other counties;

For school districts formed of cities and towns—one dollar on the hundred dollars assessed valuation, except that in the City of St. Louis the annual rate shall not exceed eighty-nine cents on the hundred dollars assessed valuation;

For all other school districts—sixty-five cents on the hundred dollars assessed valuation.

In all municipalities, counties and school districts the rates of taxation as herein limited may be increased for their respective purposes for not to exceed four years, when the rate and purpose of the increase are submitted to a vote and two-thirds of the qualified electors voting thereon shall vote therefor; provided in school districts the rate of taxation as herein limited may be increased for school purposes so that the total levy shall not exceed three times the limit herein specified and not to exceed one year, when the rate period of levy and the purpose of the increase are submitted to a vote and a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon shall vote therefor; provided in school districts in cities of 75,000 inhabitants or over the rate of taxation as herein limited may be increased for school purposes so that the total levy shall not exceed three times the limit herein specified and not to exceed two years, when the rate period of levy and the purpose of the increase are submitted to a vote and a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon shall vote therefor: Provided, that the rates herein fixed, and the amounts by which they may be increased, may be further limited by law; and provided further, that any county or other political subdivision, when authorized by law and within the limits fixed by law, may levy a rate of taxation on all property subject to its taxing powers in excess of the rates herein limited, for library, hospital, public health, recreation grounds and museum purposes.

The City of St. Louis may levy for county purposes, in addition to the municipal rates herein provided, a rate not exceeding the rate allowed for county purposes.

The foregoing limitations on rates shall not apply to taxes levied for the purpose of paying any bonded debt.

Nothing in this Constitution shall prevent the enactment of any general law permitting any county or other political subdivision to levy taxes other than ad valorem taxes for its essential purposes.

HERE'S THE TRUTH

Amendment No.1

Does NOT Raise Your Taxes!

It merely pertains to the method of voting school levies. The amount of taxes would be decided by a majority of local voters. The method of voting school bonds would not be changed. A two-thirds vote would still be required on all bond issues.

Amendment No.1

HELPS Our Children

This is a change which is intended to procure Missouri school children the same financial advantages given in thirty-nine other states. Amendment No. 1 helps by making fairer the method of voting school levies. It makes it possible to vote a school levy within Constitutional and Legislative limits by a majority — a democratic principle. Funds for our children's education are now subject to approval by a 2/3 majority.

Amendment No.1

Guarantees Fair Play

It is only fair that every voter have equal voice in school elections. Under the present method it takes two "Yes" votes to equal one "No" vote. Congressmen are elected by majority vote. Laws are made by majority vote. Even the fate of Amendment No. 1 will be decided by majority vote. But it takes a two-thirds majority to vote a school levy. Is this fair to our children?

READ THESE QUICK FACTS

- Every voter would be given equal voice in school elections.
- This Amendment does not increase taxes—the size of levies would be decided by local voters.
- Levies would be voted for only one year except in cities of 75,000 or more, where they could be voted for two years.
- The method of voting school bonds would not be changed—a two-thirds vote will still be required on all bond issues.

EVERYONE BENEFITS BY GOOD SCHOOLS - VOTE YES ON NO. 1

Home Wedding Solemnized Saturday P.M.

Miss Evelyn Norma Anne Drenan, daughter of Major and Mrs. John M. Drenan and Mr. William Wesley Ross, son of Mrs. Edythe Ross and the late Mr. Fred M. Ross, were married in a single ring ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, 115 East Sixth street, at 4:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon. About ninety relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony, performed by the Reverend Warren L. Botkin, rector of Calvary Episcopal church.

The marriage took place before an improvised altar, in the living room, banked with large white mums, red roses and smilax. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore white satin, styled in the period of 1890, with polanaise, waist length veil, cap of tulle banded in white satin and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and red roses.

Her only attendant was her matron of honor, Mrs. Darrell Olsen, sister of the bridegroom. Mrs. Olsen wore apple green satin with a tulle veil of the same color.

The bridegroom's attendant was Mr. Chris Barr of Marshall.

Prior to the ceremony Miss Mabel DeWitt, at the piano, and Mr. Abe Rosenthal, on the violin, played "Thais" and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," and Mrs. Samson R. Diamond of Los Angeles, Calif., sang Bach-Gounod's "Ave Maria" and "Amarilli," a 16th century Italian song.

A reception followed the ceremony, during which a buffet lunch, including the wedding cake, was served.

The bride's mother was gowned in rose crepe and wore orchids, while Mrs. Ross was in gray, trimmed with sequins and she too wore orchids.

The bride, whose parents came to Sedalia after Major Drenan retired from Army service, was graduated from high school in the Panama Canal Zone, attended Converse College, Spartanburg, S.C., has recently been employed by the Veterans Administration in Kansas City.

Mr. Ross was reared in Sedalia, was graduated from Smith-Cotton high school and Deep Springs College, Deep Springs, Calif., and the University of Missouri. He owns and operates a large farm, "Ross Acres," near Houstonia, where the couple will reside, upon their return, about November 15, from a wedding trip to Chicago.

For traveling Mrs. Ross wore a gray suit, velvet Juliet cap and veil, black suede bag, shoes and gloves.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drenan, Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Samson R. Diamond, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Harrison, Syracuse, Neb.; Miss Gloria Harrison, Tucson, Calif.; Robert Lee Harrison, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Vincent L. Curl, Manning, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Tine Hickman, Cross Timbers, Mo.; Mrs. Mabel Hassell, Parsons, Kas.; Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Curtis, Mr. Will Gebert, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gilges, Mrs. Frieda Evilsizer, Mr. and Mrs. James Kelleher, and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Collins, all of Kansas City.

Mrs. Stanton Hudson, 719 West Fourth street, entertained last Sunday morning with a combination breakfast and miscellaneous shower, to compliment Miss Drenan. The guests were seated at tables in the Magnolia room of the Hotel Bothwell. Arrangements of flowers, marigolds and snapdragons, in shallow bowls, centered the tables.

Those attending were: Miss Drenan, Mrs. Fred M. Ross, Mrs. John M. Drenan, Mrs. Al Miles, Mrs. Constance K. Hayes, Mrs. Roy Kirchhofer, Mrs. C. W. Stephenson, Mrs. Frank Hugelman, Mrs. C. R. Roose, Mrs. Darrell Olsen, Miss Georgia Sullivan and Mrs. Dorothy Stanley.

Farewell Party Given Monday

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kirkhart, 800 East Thirteenth street, entertained with a handkerchief shower Monday night in honor of Mrs. Lois Todd and Mrs. Lora Rogers, who are both leaving Sedalia.

Style Guide for today's woman

By Frances Sagaloff at Sage's

Thanksgiving and Christmas are not far away, according to the calendar, and dresses for these special days are beginning to arrive. The beauty of the fabrics with the gay trims, will arouse your desires to replenish your wardrobe. There are always numerous parties and activities where you must appear more dressed-up than usual. Tissue failles, taffeta, and crepes with sequins will be the first in line. Plan your holiday wardrobe and save that last minute worry—it spoils your fun to have to shop the day of a party for a dress to wear. Remember being well-dressed and appropriately dressed helps insure you of a good time—you arrive relaxed and it usually carries you through the evening. You'll want to look your best for all the festivities of the holidays, so start now by brushing your hair a few extra strokes each night, taking special care of your hands and nails. The most beautiful dress in the world will not look its best if your hair and nails dont' do their part.

Have fun with wallpaper! Brighten the top of your old card tables with wallpaper—finish with a coat of clear lacquer.

Wallpaper built-ins (maybe a linen closet in a hall) to camouflauge them and eliminate a cluttered effect. A cut out motif of wallpaper roses, or other design on the window shades in bath or bedrooms gives a smart decorator touch. Wallpaper the inside of open shelves on book cases — edge the dressing table mirror with a striped or floral border.

Church Wedding October 15

Miss Emma Dorothea Wilshusen, daughter of Mrs. Dora Wilhusen, of Ionia, became the bride of Mr. Raymond O. Cordes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto L. Cordes, of Spring Fork, at a candlelight service on Sunday evening, October 15, at 7:00 o'clock. The double ring service was read by the Rev. R. H. Beck at the Immanuel Lutheran church north of Lincoln, before an altar setting of baskets of bronze and lavender chrysanthemums on either side of which were two seven branch candelabra entwined with huckleberry. The setting was arranged by Mrs. Henry Ficken.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Carl Wischmeire at the organ played "I Love You Truly" by Bond and "O Perfect Love" by Atkinson.

Miss Frances Keuper, wearing pale yellow and Miss Ficken in pale green, lighted the candles. They wore orchid pompon chrysanthemums in their hair.

Mrs. Wischmeire, in a lavender gown with a corsage of white carnations, played the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, by Wagner, as the processional.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Rudolph Wilshusen, wore a gown of white slipper satin designed with fitted bodice, boat neckline with yoke of sheer illusion and fastened to the waist in the back with tiny satin buttons. The long sleeves tapered to a point over the wrists and the ful lskirt lengthened into an aisle wide train. Her illusion veil, of fingertip length, was attached to a halo of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of white mums and pompon chrysanthemums showered with white satin ribbon. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls with matching pearl earrings, gifts of the bridegroom.

Miss Viola Wilhausen, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown of blue crepe was styled like that of the bride except that the sleeves were short and there was no net yoke. Her colonial bouquet was of pink pompon chrysanthemums tied with blue streamers.

Mrs. Isabelle Romig, of Spring Fork, sister of the bridegroom, wore a taffeta gown of starlight pink, with tightly fitted bodice softly tucked bertha collar flared over the shoulder and edged with lace of the same shade. The yoke was sheer and in the back at the waistline was a bustle bow. Her colonial bouquet was of yellow pompon chrysanthemums tied with pink streamers.

Mr. Kletus Cordes, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and Mr. Theodore Wilshusen, brother of the bride, was groomsman. Ushers were Mr. Paul Wilshusen, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Elmer Monsees, cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue crepe dress with black accessories and her corsage was of white mums. The bridegroom's mother wore a black crepe dress with black accessories and her corsage was of white mums.

Following the ceremony open house was held at the home of the bride's mother, at which guests numbered 200. Fall flowers were used throughout the home and a three tier wedding cake topped with three red roses in a silver heart, was encircled with fern and red roses on either side of which were lighted white tapers and pink roses. A white hand crocheted table cloth covered the table. Serving were Mrs. Kletus Cordes, Mrs. Walter Peter, Mrs. Paul Wilshusen and Miss Dixie Raymond of Clinton.

Miss Frances Keuper and Miss Lu Anna Ficken were in charge of the guest books.

The bridegroom was in service in the army medical corps from 1942 to 1946, serving in the Pacific area. He is now engaged in farming.

Mr. and Mrs. Cordes will make their home on a farm in the Spring Fork community.

Meeting By W.B.A.

The Women's Benefit Association held its regular meeting on Wednesday at the American Legion hall. The next meeting will be held November 15 at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

October Wedding At Pilot Grove

The marriage of Miss Cecile Ann Ashmead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ashmead, of Pilot Grove, and Mr. Kenneth Brumback, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brumback of Bunceton was solemnized at the Pilot Grove Methodist church at 4:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, October 29.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Sterling Kerr, before an altar setting of white mums, palms and burning tapers.

Preceding the service Mrs. H. A. Seltsam gave a prelude of organ music and accompanied Mrs. Wrayburn Carver of Warrensburg, cousin of the bridegroom, who sang, "I Love You Truly" and "Because" preceding the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" at the close.

As the processional Mrs. Saltsam played the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, "Clair De Lune" during the ceremony, and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white bridal satin designed with sweetheart neckline trimmed in seed pearls, fitted bodice and long tapering sleeves ending in points over the hands. The very full skirt lengthened into an aisle wide train. Her veil of nylon illusion was finger tip length and was held in place with orange blossoms. She carried a cascade type bouquet of white carnations showered with white ribbon.

Miss Bonnie Brumback, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and wore a gown of delicate lavender shade with elbow length mitts of the same material. Her headdress was of flowers matching those in the cascade bouquet of orchid mums tied with green ribbon.

Miss Sonya Ashmead, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Her gown was identical to that of the maid of honor in lettuce green with matching mitts, and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow mums tied with lavender ribbon with flowers in her hair to match.

Miss Joan Malotte of Blackwater lighted the candles. She wore a gown of daffodil yellow and wristlets of yellow roses tied with orchid ribbon.

The bridegroom was attended by Mrs. Earl Spence as best man and Mr. Donald Williams as groomsman. Ushers were Albert Eichhorn and Wayne Spence.

The bride's mother wore a crepe dress with dark brown accessories and her corsage was yellow carnations. The mother of the bridegroom was attired in a green suit with black and yellow accessories and her corsage was of yellow carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the country home of the bride's parents. A three tiered wedding cake decorated in pink and white topped with a miniature bride and rbidegroom centered the white linen covered table, with burning pink tapers in crystal holders at each end.

Mrs. Lewis Stuckey, aunt of the bride, served the cake and Mrs. Verne Neale, aunt of the bridegroom, presided at the punch bowl, they were assisted by Mrs. A. W. Eichhorn and Mrs. Glen Eichhorn.

The couple left following the reception for a wedding trip to New Orleans, La. For traveling the bride chose a navy blue suit, with which she wore red accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The bride is a member of the Senior class at Pilot Grove high school.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the 1949 class of Pilot Grove high school and is engaged in farming in the New Lebanon community.

Sorosis Speaker Park College President

"Unacknowledged Legislators" is the subject selected by Dr. J. L. Zwingle, president of Park college, who will speak Monday afternoon before Sorosis at the Heard Memorial Club House.

Dr. Zwingle became president of Park college, Parkville, Mo., in July, 1947. Prior to that he had been Director of Operations, Continental United States, in the USO. Dr. Zwingle served the USO for a period of five and one-half years, starting as Regional Executive in 1942, with the responsibility of six southeastern states, where a heavy portion of the military training was carried forward. In 1943 he was transferred to the National Headquarters in Ne wYork, where he continued work as administrator of recreational and welfare service for the armed forces, cooperatively set up by six agencies under the name of USO. During this period Dr. Zwingle was chairman first of the committee on Field Operations and second, chairman of the Conference of Executives for the work within the confines of the continental United States.

After receiving his A. B. and A. M. degrees from the University of Tennessee, Dr. Zwingle completed his work for his Ph. D. at Cornell university in the field of a comparative study of literature.

He has taught at the University of Tennessee and at Cornell university. He was director of student personnel at State Teachers college in Maryville. His experiences also cover adult education and community organization with the TVA and other posts in college administration.

Dr. Zwingle is a minister of the Presbyterian church.

The speaker will be introduced by Mrs. Otis W. Wiley, chairman of the History and Literature department. A luncheon in his honor will precede the meeting.

Music Club Will Have Concert Film

An hour long concert by world famous artists, photographed and recorded, will be the program to be presented to members of the Helen G. Steele Music club and their guests on Wednesday afternoon. The picture, which is entitled "Adventures in Music—A Concert on Film," will be shown at 3:00 o'clock at the Fox Theatre, through the courtesy of Joe Ruddick, manager. Mrs. H. C. Johnson and Mrs. Harry Brougher are chairmen of the day.

Of special interest to musicians because of the opportunity to observe closely the performing hands of fine pianists and string players, the film presents Jose Iturbi who plays several piano solos, and demonstrates a harpsichord with two keyboards. Other artists are Vronsky and Babin, one of the best known duo-piano teams in the world, Margaret Dilling, harpist - extraordinary, Emil Fuermann, famous violincellist, and the Coolidge Quartet. The stringed instruments used by the quartet are the property of Mrs. C. A. Coolidge, a collector of rare musical instruments, and their value is so great that they are kept in the Smithsonian Institute except when in use by the quartet.

Each member of the music club is entitled to invite two guests for the program, and music teachers and their pupils will be the guests of the club.

Deputy President At Meeting of Rebekahs

The Loyal Rebekah lodge 260 met at the American Legion hall Friday evening and welcomed Miss Marie Cuddy, deputy president of the state assembly, who was present with five other members of the Lincoln lodge.

The group was introduced and after the business meeting a social hour was held in their honor. Coffee and doughnuts were served.

Miller-Howery Marriage

The Epworth Methodist church in Sedalia was the setting for the wedding of Miss Ella Fern Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest O. Miller, of Green Ridge, and Mr. Leonard Howery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Howery of Ionia, at 2:00 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, October 15, by Rev. Ralph E. Hurd.

Preceding the ceremony, Gene Young at the organ played the nuptial music and accompanied Johnnie Hays, who sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride chose for her wedding a nu-beige gabardine suit with which she wore navy blue accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

Miss Carolyn Morgan, bridesmaid, was attired in a timber green gabardine suit with brown accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

Mr. John Hays served as best man.

The bride's mother wore navy blue crepe with a corsage of white mums and pink roses, the bridegroom's mother was attired in navy blue also and wore a corsage of white mums and pink roses.

A buffet luncheon was served at four o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. A reception and shower followed at 8:00 o'clock. The three tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom formed the centerpiece on the lace covered table and was served with ice cream and punch to approximately 130 guests.

The bride is a graduate of the Green Ridge high school of the class of 1950. The couple left on Monday for a short motor trip through Kansas and Colorado. They will make their home on a farm near Green Ridge.

Mattress Was Afire

A burning mattress at the residence of Leroy Cooper, 300 West Pettis street, caused a run by the fire companies about 5:20 o'clock Saturday morning. Slight damage resulted.

Milestone in a Career!

We see it happen over and over again—and it's one of the greatest satisfactions we enjoy in this happy business of selling Cadillac cars.

It's when a man comes into possession of his first Cadillac—and we see the wonderful things it does for him.

We see his happiness as he places his order—not as the result of a sudden inspiration, but because he has gradually reached the conclusion that he has earned the right to enjoy the unquestioned best.

And then we see him on that happy day when his car is available for delivery—and he settles himself so proudly behind the wheel.

He's a little quizzical, we sometimes note. Could it be, he wonders, that he has been anticipating a bit too much?

And then he's out in the street—headed for home the long way 'round.

Those are thrilling days that follow.

There's the first long ride with the family . . . the first trip to the office . . . and the time he learns, in an emergency, that his car is worth its whole price in safety alone.

And then, almost before he knows it, the odometer registers a thousand miles—and he's back to tell us all about it. And, perhaps, to grumble a little bit at giving it up—even for a little while!

Yes, it's a priceless privilege to watch all this. Makes a man feel that he's doing good.

By Randall W. Blake

LINCOLN, Nebr., Nov. 4—(AP)—Nebraska whipped Missouri 40 to 34 in a homecoming Big Seven football game here today that had a capacity crowd of 39,000 absolutely hysterical and bug-eyed as the Nebraskans came from behind three times.

It was as frenzied a football contest as had ever been played on Nebraska soil.

Defense was absolutely forgotten. It was more a matter of one team kicking off, the other team scoring and then the process being reversed. Sensational plays were piled one upon another.

The touchdown that put Nebraska in front to stay was sensational—yet, in a way, only typical of this game.

Nagel Passes For TD

Nebraska was trailing 26 to 27 as the fourth period started, with the ball on the Nebraska 45. Fran Nagle passed and Bobby Reynolds ran until Nebraska reached the 15 yard line. Nagle then drifted back and rifled the ball toward end Dick Reiger over the goal line. Regier hit the tremendously hard-thrown ball into the air with one hand, then turned and caught it as it came down. Reynold's place kick then put Nebraska in the lead 33 to 27.

Reynolds Stuns Crowd

There followed within two minutes the play that was to win for Nebraska. This was one that stunned the crowd, which needed a few seconds to recover before the hysterical cheering broke out.

Nebraska held the ball on the Missouri 33 when this thriller started. It was fourth down and a yard to go. The hand-off was to Reynolds for a wide sweep. He started out around the Missouri left side. He was trapped, forced to turn back, chased way back to his own 35. Then Reynolds saw daylight, turned on the speed, swept back toward the left the way he had started and zig-zagged down the field for his third touchdown.

Bobby Counts 22 Points

Reynolds added the point, giving him 22 for the game.

This dizzy game started off on an odd note with only three officials. This was because A. L. Haskins of Oklahoma City, who was scheduled to referee, failed to get here. The reason for Haskins' non-appearance was not known here.

The first half ended 14-13 for Missouri, the Tigers having taken a quick 14-0 lead.

The third quarter was another proposition of swapping touchdowns, both teams getting two each. Glorioso's conversion ability kept Missouri in the lead at 27-26 as the period ended.

The win made Nebraska's conference record two won and one lost; Missouri's record one won, one lost and one tied.

Special guests at the game were former Nebraska Coach Col. Laurence (Biff) Jones and members of the 1940 Nebraska team which played in the 1941 Rose Bowl

Skiers Buy Odd Things

SUN VALLEY, Ida.—(AP)—People who think that all a skier buys are warm clothes and skis are dead-wrong. They buy articles which are only remotely connected with skiing, says Fred A. Picard, who started an exclusive mail-order house for skiers at the Sun Valley ski resort.

A unique item Picard sells is white chocolate. Skiers like to buy them because they are in the shape of snow-balls and because they are white—usually a favorite color of skiers. Small cameras which skiers can attach to their wrists are also big sellers as are antimagnetic pocket watches. A special men's cologne for skiers is another of the odd items they buy. Swiss-designed beer steins are sold internationally by the Sun Valley businessman.

Picard has designed a special wall-paper for ski huts which he expects will be the next big request. What next?

Joplin J.C. Loses 14-13

JOPLIN, Mo., Nov. 4—(AP)—Coffeyville Junior college outclassed a Joplin Junior college third-quarter rally here tonight in 35-degree weather to eke out a 14-13 victory, their 7th straight.

Foxes abound on the Aleutian islands.

Bears Upset Mules, 27-12

WARRENSBURG, Nov. 4— (AP)—Bogey Harrison pitched three touchdown passes today in leading the Springfield, Mo., State Bears to a 27-12 upset over the Warrensburg, Mo., Mules in an MIAA game before a crowd of 3,000.

Springfield's first touchdown came in the opening period on Harrison's 30-yard heave to Jack Larson on the goal line. In the third quarter Harrison threw 25 yads to J. D. Renick and the latter stepped five more yards to score. Then Joe Stevens went 20 yards around end for a Springfield counter, and Harrison hit Larson from 10 yards out for the Bear's last touchdown.

Warrensburg rumbled back for its two tallies in the last period. Jim Bodenhamer got the first on a four-yard end run, and Kelly Meyer passed 30 yards to Bill Ray in the end zone for the other.

Paul Mullins kicked three extra points for Springfield.

The victory was Springfield's second in league play, against one loss and a tie. Warrensburg now has a 2-2 league record.

Mexican Cadet Wins Top Rank In Horse Show

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—Cadet Roberto Vinals, of the Mexican army team, won the international special challenge trophy tonight in the national horse show at Madison Square Garden.

Vinals, riding Alteno, won the event in the second jump-off over the difficult eight-fench course. Second in the competition between teams from six nations was W. H. White of the British equestrain team.

The special challenge trophy was thus retired, having been won three times by Mexico. The trophy was presented by Whitney Stone, former president of the horse show.

A total of 46 horses competed but after the first round, only six had completed the course without knockdown. In addition to the 17-year-old Vinals and White, they were Capt. Alberto Valdes of Mexico, and three horses of the United States, ridden by Mrs. Carol Durand of Kansas City and Arthur McCashin of Pluckemin, N. J. McCashin rode two horses faultlessly, Paleface and Eager Beaver. Mrs. Durand was astride Reno Kirk. They tied for third place in the jump-off, both knocking down the third fence, which had been raised.

It was the fourth international jumping victory of the show for Mexico, against two each for the United States and England.

Tulsa Withstands Aggie Rally, 27-13

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 4 — (AP) — Finely-tuned Tulsa got a first-half jump on a confused Oklahoma A and M eleven, then withstood a late comeback by the Aggies to register a 27-13 Missouri Valley Conference football triumph today.

The victory before 15,315 persons gave Tulsa's Golden Hurricane second place in the conference standings and made its game here Nov. 18 with Wichita the one which will decide the championsip.

Tulsa ran rings around the Cowpokes in the first half, scoring three times, but was hard-pressed to halt their traditional rivals' fourth-quarter surge.

The game ended with A and M on Tulsa's three-yard line.

Two Hunters Drown In Missouri River

SIBLEY, Mo., Nov. 4—(AP)—Two young duck hunters drowned and a third barely managed to swim to safety after their boat sank in the Missouri river near here today.

The dead were William Klouse, 24, of Sibley, and Herbert M. Neal, 26, of Kansas City.

Fred B. Boyer, 33, Kansas City, a powerful, rugged man, managed to remove his heavy outer clothing and battle the current 75 yards to shore. He collapsed in the water at the bank but his arm caught in a tree root and kept him from drowning. He estimated he was unconscious about an hour.

Valley Streak Broken, 21-20

Arkansas State Goes 90 Yards to Score In Last 2 Minutes

MARSHALL, Mo., Nov. 4—(AP)—Arkansas State of Jonesboro slashed 90 yards to a touchdown in the last two minutes to knock Missouri Valley college from the ranks of unbeaten teams Friday night, 21 to20.

Don Bebbert made the tying touchdown on the fourth down from the one-yard line. Arkansas State's Indians covered the 90 yards in nine plans. Don LaPlata kicked his third straight extra point for the victory margin.

Webb Knots Count

The Indians scored the first touchdown on Bill Columbo's 65-yard dash in the second period. Valley matched it with Bruce Webb's counter from eight yards out. A minute later Valley grabbed a fumhble on the Indian's five and Gene Morrison went over from the three to give Valley a 14-7 halftime lead.

In the third period the Valley Vikings went 68 yards with Jim Wright scoring from the nine. Morrison after kicking the first two extra points, missed this one.

Time Stops Vikings

Then Arkansas State cut loose with its winning drive. The Vikings raced back to the visitor's 18 on two pass plays in the closing seconds, but the gun stopped them there.

It was Missouri Valley's first loss in eight games—since Arkansas State beat the Vikings at Jonesboro last year, 7-6.

I-State Quells Kansas State Uprising, 13-7

MANHATTAN, Kas., Nov. 4—(AP)—Kansas State's downtrodden Wildcats came within one foot and one fumble of scoring its second Big Seven football victory in six years today but Iowa State struck for two fourth quarter touchdowns and snatched a 13-7 triumph.

The Wildcats had their homecoming day crowd of 14,500 counting a 7-0 victory when the roof fell in early in the fourth period. Iowa State turned two Kansas State fumbles into scoring drives. Mark Rothacker scored one and Bill Weeks the other for the victors. Both Iowa State touchdowns came within a span of 1 minute and 24 seconds.

At that, Iowa State had to stop a Kansas State fourth quarter drive one foot short of a touchdown that would have evened the game. Then they did it again on the eight-yard line as time ran out.

The Wildcats never tried harder. For three full quarters it appeared ther gridiron miseries were to be eased.

Lynn Burris, a lanky, 175-lb. halfback from Wellington, Kas., and a noble player all day, swept through a wide gap in the right side of the Iowa State line 16 yards for the Kansas State touchdown midway of the first quarter.

Iowa State	0	0	0	13—13
Kaansas State	7	0	0	0— 7

Iowa State scoring: Touchdowns—Rothacker, Weeks. Conversions—Clendening.

Kansas State scoring: Touchdowns, Burris. Conversion, Estes.

Cadets Blast Penn, 28-13

PHILADELPHIA, No. 4—(AP)—An unsung defensie halfback, Herbert Johnson, set Army's football offensie in motion today and the nation's No. 2 football team ground out the Cadets unbeaten streak to 26 games.

Johnson recovered a Penn fumble to pave the way for the touchdown and made the first interception of a pass by Francis (Reds) Bagnell this season. Bagnell ran his streak of non-interceptions to 88 before Johnson spoiled things.

Pennsylania battled Army on even terms through the first two periods, trailing only 7-6 at half time. Then Army struck explosively for two quick touchdown, one on a short pass thrown by Bob Blaik and the other on a 29 yard run by Eugene Filipski.

After Penn rallied for a second touchdown, Filipski put the game on ice in the fourth period with a 73-yard gallop.

Football Roundup

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 — (AP) — Texas smacked down top-ranking Southern Methodist today and Army stretched its streak of invincibility to 26 games in a day of mighty decision for the nation's football powers.

Once-beaten Texas reached magnificent heigths to shatter SMU's dream of a national championship, 23-20, in a savagely-played game before 65,498 at Austin. It was the Mustangs' first loss.

The victory made the Longhorns a favorite for southwest cenference honors and the host role in Dallas' Cotton Bowl. They have lost only to Oklahoma, 14-13.

Army, No. 2 in the rankings, kept its title hopes alive with a 28-13 triumph over powerful Pennsylvania before 78,000 at Philadelphia. It was the "big" game on the schedule of the Cadets, now favored to go through the season without a setback.

The post-season bowl picture also began to jell in games across the continent—played in snow and rain in the east and middle west and near-freezing cold in the south.

Cal Hurdles Washington

California, unbeaten and untied, hurdled a giant obstacle in its march to a third straight Rose Bowl bid by humbling Washington, 14-7, before 55,000 at Seattle. The sixth-ranked Bears moved to the front of the Pacifc Coast Conference race.

Illinois became a solid favorite for te Big Ten Rose Bowl assignment by upending Michigan, 7-0, in a swirling snowstorm at Ann Arbor, Mich. Fullback Dick Haklovits and halfback Ron Stevens starred in the Illini second conference victory against a single defeat.

Ohio State, fourth-ranked nationally, continued to look like the titan of the middle west by overwhelming Northwestern, 32-0, but the Buckeyes are ineligible for the Pasadene trip. They beat California in the Rose Bowl last year.

The Oklahoma Sooners moved nearer an almost certain lucrative post-season assignment by subduing Colorado, 27-18, for their 27th straight victory—a modern winning record. The great Cornell teams of the early twenties held the previous mark of 26 in a row. Oklahoma is No. 3 in the rankings.

Kentucky Skein to Eight

Kentucky's Wildcats became the major bowl plum in the south after smashing Florida, 40-6, for their eighth in a row this season. Kentucky is fifth in the Associated Press national ratings.

In the east, Princeton turned its razor-sharp single wing attack on Colgate, scored four times in the opening period and won, 45-7, breezing.

The unblemished Tigers dominate the Ivy league, which produced two of the day's first-class surprises. Underdog Columbia rocked defending champion Cornell, 20-19, on a last period touchdown by fullback Howie Hansen and a placement gick by Al Ward. Dartmouth upset Yale, 7-0.

Notre Dame, the defending national champion, came from behind twice to subdue Navy, 19-10, and add a bit of late luster to a season already marred by three defeats.

Spartans Maul Indiana

Sonny Grandelius scored three touchdowns as Michigan State mauled Indiana, one of the Notre Dame conquerors, 35-0.

Iowa whipped Minnesota, 13-0, and Wisconsin subdued Purdue, 33-7, in the Big Ten.

Tennessee, beaten once, improved its bowl chances by knocking over North Carolina, 16-0. Duke rocked on its heels when Georgia Tech scored 21 points in the opening period, came charging back to whip the Yellow Jackets at Durham, N. C., 30-21.

Maryland won over George Washington, 23-7.

Alabama won over Georgia, 14-7, in one of the south's outstanding games. Washington and Lee, a contender for the Southern Conference crown, defeated Virginia Tech, 25-7.

Wyoming protected its perfect record by beating Idaho, 14-7.

UCLA remained in the Pacific Coast record title race, turning back Oregon State, 20-13, on the running and passing of sophomore tailback Ned Harleski. The game was played in 104 temperature before 15,323 at Los Angeles.

At Palo Alto, Southern California held favored Stanford to a 7-7 tie. Washington State topped Oregon, 21-13.

Other games in the southwest saw Baylor trump Texas Christian 20-14; Tulsa beat Oklahoma A and M, 27-13, and Rice whipped Texas Tech, 13-7.

LSU Stomps Ole Miss 40-14

BATON ROUGE, La. Nov. 4—(AP)—Louisiana State University stomped the University of Mississipp 40-14 here tonight to score its first Southeastern Conference football victory of the year.

Sport Scraps

By D. Kelly Scruton

WRESTLING in the midget type was seen for the first time in the Sedalia ring last Wednesday night and it was accepted with much interest. Sedalia fans were thrilled with the action seen in the ring, the art displayed by these little men in using many holds that are used by the big heavyweight wrestlers. It was real entertainment for forty-five long minutes to the wrestlers, but short minutes to the ringsiders.
match other than they enjoyed them and wondered when the

Not one person did I hear make any remarks about the midgets would return to the Sedalia ring. I understand the Commission has barred these little men in St. Louis, who I feel have the same right to a living whether they wrestle, are blacksmiths, mechanics and many are mechanics, or any other profession, as a well developed man.

Apparently someone has lost sight of "live and let live" on the Commission in making such a ruling. Certainly the state of Missouri enjoys the nice big tax checks they get when good matches draw large crowds. The midgets have been a wrestling attraction which has been a real drawing of paying customers.

Incidentally, when they appear, the gate is such that the other wrestlers make a little more money, the sponsor makes more, the promoter makes more and the State makes more—both on sales tax and athletic ax and he Federal Government comes in for a nice big slice—So why ban these Little Men.

When the word "midgets" is spoken many think of freaks, but these little wrestlers are anything but freaks, they are real wrestlers on a smaller scale.

An example of their nerve was shown when Sky Low Low in last week's event suffered a severe injury to the knuckle on his ring finger of the right hand. The injury occurred in the second period and he had the hand taped and continued on through the match. X-ray pictures taken by Dr E. L. Rhodes, Commission Physician, revealed a badly bruised knuckle and a possible chip of the bone.

I have been informed they'll be back to Sedalia sometime in January.

POLITICS and athletics are being compared by the Democratic State Committee in regards to Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., candidate for United States Senator. The comparison comes through the present campaign and the candidate's younger days while in school and college. It is his record as a track star, and he is in one of his greatest races at the present time.

Thirty years ago at Solden High in St. Louis he held records in the quarter and half mile events. It Cornell University, Ithica, N. Y., he was again starring in that sport and set several records. in the shorter distance runs.

After finishing at Cornell, Hennings returned to St Louis and for two years coached the Washington University track and produced several winners.

Recently, Hennings was discussing with friends the fact that his present campaign was something like the races he ran on the track in high school and college. "They are very much the same", he laughed, "You get a lot of applause in both, if you win. If you lose, you are tired, you feel that you've run a good race, and then you start figuring out where you made your mistakes so that you can do better the next time. I like to break the tape first."

The finish line is 7:00 o'clock Tuesday night at which time the tape will be broken—but the results will probably not be known until late at night.

Heart Ailment Ends Life of Grover Cleveland Alexander

ST. PAUL, Nebr., Nov. 4—(AP)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, a fabulous major league pitcher in his day, died today of a heart ailment.

Death came to the 63-year-old baseball immortal in the one rented room he occupied in a private home here. He had been living of late on a $150 a month baseball pension.

Alexander had been in ill health in recent years—he lost an ear to cancer—but friends who saw him yesterday said he mentioned nothing about feeling ill.

To Hall of Fame in 1938

Alexander got his last big baseball tribute in 1938 when he was voted into baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

He had earned it with a remarkable assortment of records chalked up in a career that covered nearly 20 years—from 1911 to 1930.

It was typical of the colorful Alexander, a notable breaker of training rules, that his best-remembered triumph came at a time when his greatness appeared to be fading.

As a pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals, Alex had won the sixth game of the world series in 1926. The Cards needed the seventh to win the series.

Came the seventh inning of the seventh game against the New York Yankees in Yankee Stadium. Two men were out, the bases were loaded, the Cards held a precarious 3-2 lead and Tony Lazzeri was up.

Fanned Tony in Clutch

Legend, always denied by Alexander, had it that the one-time Nebraska farm boy was napping in the dugout after celebrating too well his previous day's win the night before. Cold as a mackeral, Alex took the mound, struck out Lazzeri on three pitched balls and went on to win the game.

The obscurity which had enveloped Alex in late years lifted briefly last month when he managed, with the help of a friend in St. Paul and a radio show in Chicago, to get to New York for the world series. He had helped the Phils to their last previous pennant 35 years earlier. He hadn't seen a series game in nearly 20 years.

After the trip, fan letters and requests for pictures and autographs poured in to him here.

Quentin Lynch, young St. Paul jeweler and longtime friend who had accompanied him to New York, said old Pete had "started to live again," after the New York trip.

Won 373 Games

Alexander won 373 of the 696 games he pitched for the Phillies, Cubs, and Cards. This tied him with Christy Matewson as the National league's biggest winner.

He pitched more shutous than any National leaegue hurler—90 of them. In 1916 he chalked up an amazing total of 16 shutous, also a record.

In three successive years, 1915 to 1917, he won 30 or more games He never had a no-hitter but hurled four one-hitters in 1915, a record. In 1911 he pitched four consecutive shutouts.

Miami Breezes Past Wichita U., 39-13

OXFORD, O., Nov. 4 — (AP) — Miami scored in each quarter to defeat the University of Wichita today, 39 to 13, in 40-degree temperature with rain, sleet and snow alternating.

Miami scored two quick ones in the first eight minutes on a 15-yard run by Jim (Boxcar) Bailey and a 16-yard pass from Nobby Wirkowski to Al Maccioli. Paul Sautter missed both conversion kicks, thus ending his consecutive P.A.T. string at 19.

Wichita came back in the first quarter to score twice in five minutes on a 59-yard pass play, Eddie Kirwie to Mike Knopick, and Jimmy Nutter's plunge from the one, cashing in on Bailey's 25-yard line fumble.

Wayne Ubben, a guard, made the first of the two conversion attempts. Wichita led until halfway into the second quarter but never scored again.

Stagecoaches were operated regularly in New Mexico until 1881, when the first railroads were built into the state.

Bright Leads Drake To Win Over Bradley

DES MOINES, Nov. 4—(AP)—Drake's Johnny Bright hustled to within 17 yards of a new national total offense record today as he led his team to a 24-14 victory over Bradley in a Missouri Valley Conference football game.

The 200-pound junior halfback turning in his most brilliant performance accounted for 436 yards to boost his eight-game total to 2,171 yards, only 16 short of the record 2,187 by Frank Sinkwich of Georgia, in 11 games in 1942.

Bright carried the ball 28 times for a net of 196 yards and completed 16 of 25 passes for 240 yards. His best previous single game show was 395 against Iowa Teachers earlier in the season.

The Drake star finishes his schedule against Iowa State next Saturday and barring an injury seems certain to break Sinkwich's record.

Johnny, a busy man all afternoon, figured in all of Drake's touchdowns. He ran for three and passed for three.

DELMERE GANN

Work will be cut out for William Jewell ball carriers when they try to run through Delmere Gann, 238 pound junior tackle of Missouri Valley at 2 o'clock Saturday in Blues Stadium, Kansas City. The conference football championship will be at stake.

Jewell-Valley Meet for MCU Championship

Whatever the Missouri Valley and William Jewell football squads are, or hope to be, this season will be determined at 2 o'clock Saturday in Blues Stadium, Kansas City, when they play for the Missouri College Union championship.

A Small College Classic

Both squads played non-conference games last week, but all stops were pulled out Monday as they pointed toward the small college football classic of the season. If weather conditions are favorable the largest crowd to see a college game in Kansas City in recent years is expected.

A month ago Missouri Valley was expected to cake walk to a sixth successive championship. But Jewell has made amazing strides under the direction of Norris Patterson, former Missouri Valley star who graduated to the college coaching ranks after successful seasons at Excelsior Springs and Danville, Ill., high schools. He is a native of Odessa, Mo.

Teacher vs. Pupil

It will be a teacher vs. pupil duel with a three-way stretct. Patterson played two years under Henri Godfriaux and two for Volney Ashford at Valley. Ashford is the astute Viking coach who has attracted nation wide attention. Godfriaux, who also had Ashford as a pupil, now is professor at William Jewell and acts at Patterson's confidant and adviser.

Maryville, Bulldogs Play to 13-13 Tie

MARYVILLE, Mo., Nov. 4—(AP)—The Maryville, Mo., Bearcats rolled 73 yards to a fourth-quarter touchdown to gain a 13-13 tie with the Kirksville, Mo., Bulldogs in an MIAA game today.

Maryville had scored in the first quarter on Chuck Graham's seven-yard plunge at the end of a 64-yard march.

But Kirksville swept to the front on two second-period counters. Dowell dashed 49 yards to the one and Frazier went over from there. Seconds later Dowell intercepted a pass and romped 45 yards. Albrect's kick was good and Kirksville had a 13-6 lead.

Then Maryville drove 73 yards in the last period with Marlin Carey going over from the two The conversion was made, tying the score. The Bearcats failed on a field goal attempt in the closing seconds.

Esteppe Will Meet Moto on Wednesday

Jimmy Sears From Marshall Will Meet "Bad Boy" Brown

WRESTLING SCHEDULE

Main Event
Marshall Esteppe vs. "The Great" Moto
Sturgeon, Mo. Tokyo, Japan
2 falls out 3—90-minute time limit.
Semi-Windup
Frank Shrofro vs. Jerry "Killer" Meeker
St. Louis Missoula, Mont.
2 falls out of 3—45-minute time limit.
Opening Event
"Bad Boy" Brown vs. Jimmy Sears
Shreveport, La. Marshall, Mo.
One fall with a 30-minute time limit.

Time: 8:15 p.m., Wednesday.
Place: National Guard Armory.

Enjoying a successful week in Chicago, "The Great" Moto, Tokyo, Japan, returns to the Sedalia ring next Wednesday to meet a local ring favorite in the "wrestling postmaster" of Sturgeon, Mo., in Marshall Esteppe. They will be the feature contestants in the main event on the regular weekly card sponsored by the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion.

Moto who used his jui jutsi to an advantage two weeks ago against Daniel Boone Savage, but lost on a third fall when the Mountaineer came through to give the Jap some real Kentucky rough stuff, is expected to try it on Esteppe. However, Esteppe, a teacher of wrestling and former instructor at the University of Missouri is expected to be able to cope with the Jap tactics.

Meeker Meets Shrofro

Frank Shrofro of St. Louis, and "Killer" Jeffery Meeker, of Missoula, Montana, are expected to be tops in their match with plenty of wrestling action for the ringsiders. Meeker needs no introduction and Shrofro who appeared earlier this year and both well built athletes and in excellent condition for their event.

"Bad Boy" Brown who has gained a reputation for which he well earned the title "Bad Boy," coming from Shreveport, La., is expected to give the wrestler from Marshall, Mo., some fine points in "Texas rules." Sears who started in the sport two years ago has gradually been working out and building himself up in hopes of becoming one of the contenders in the sport.

He requested a booking in Sedalia in an opportunity to give his home town followers a chance to see him in action. Sears has proved he is ready and willing and desires to get on a top wrestling circuit. This week will be a tryout for such an experience.

Fined For Careless Driving

Carl F. Miller, Kansas City, Kansas, charged with careless driving, pleaded guilty to Acting Magistrate John C. McCloskey, and was fined $50 and costs, Saturday. He was arrested by the state highway patrol.

Sen. Kem And Armstrong In GOP Addresses

Speakers on Friday Night In Final Campaign Rally

United States Senator Jomes P. Kem and O. K. Armstrong, candidate for United States Congressman, were the two speakers at the final Republican party rally prior to the November 7 election. The rally was held in the circuit court room of the Pettis county court house with a large crowd in attendance Friday night.

After the opening introductions by Carl Schrader, GOP county chairman, Mr. Armstrong wasted little time in lashing a vigorous attack against the Democratic incumbent, George H. Christopher, for "policies of state socialism at home and appeasement of Communism abroad".

"Stop Intervention"

Under the first heading Armstrong said, "my oppent favors more and more government ownership and control of industry. I favor stopping this march toward government intervention in private affairs." As typical examples he listed Mr. Christopher's approval of the Brannan farm plan, compulsory health insurance and a more centralized government. Armstrong countered with his approval of parity payments for farm production but with surplus food going to the needy of the world, the expansion of the REA and private power production, the expansion of the public health service, and the cessation Louis Johnson after Mr. Truman stated, "Johnson will remain in the Cabinet as long as I am in the White House. Mr. Truman's recent comment on the Marine Corps, and his subsequent apology. The fall from favor of the Brannan farm plan after the administration found the farmers were reluctant to accept it. The manner in which some Democrats have dropped compulsory health insurance after the big build-up it had early in the campaign. And finally Democratic speeches on the virtues of economy in government spending after the fearful mistakes of "reckless and wasteful spending by the government."

Armstrong continued with his belief in a strong foreign policy, and the removal of all Communist sympathizers from governmental positions, and accused the present administration of throwing away the victories of the last war. The Democrats have "lost China, divided Europe, encouraged such aggression as that in Korea, and permitted Soviet Russia to enslave millions of people", he added.

Armstrong ended his address with a four-point program to prevent another world war, and a promise of opposition to "all that I believe is wrong when I am elected."

Senator Kem, the principal speaker of the evening used as the main theme of his address, "government by admission of error."

Mistakes, Mistakes, Mistakes

He began his address with this remark, "Seldom, if ever, in the Republic's history has there been such an accumulation of mistakes in Washington. Never before have these mistakes been so frequently admitted."

Following this theme the Senator listed these instances: The firing of Secretary of Defense in the administration's financial policy.

Tragic Thing—Truman

In conclusion Senator Kem stated, "the most tragic thing about this situation is that Mr. Truman apparently is unwilling to learn from experience. He admits his mistakes, and then proceeds to make even bigger ones.

"This will continue so long as the President, in making his decisions, gives political considerations the first priority.

"I suggest a bi-partisan government for the next two years. I mean a Republican Congress to act as a check and balance upon the Democratic President."

Over 150,000 Attend Gustaf V Funeral

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 4—(AP)—More than 150,000 persons, bade a silent farewell to King Gustaf V of Sweden tonight as his body was transfererd from nearby Drottningholm palace to the capital. The aged king died Sunday.

Candle lights fluttered in virtually every window along the eight-mile route to the chapel at Stockholm royal palace. There the body will lie in state until the funeral Nov. 9.

King Gustaf VI, son of the late king, and Queen Louise followed the hearse in an 11-car procession which included other members of the royal family and high court officials.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION OF NOTICE
No 24221
In the Circuit Court of Pettis County, State of Missouri

Walter Linder ..... Plaintiff vs.
Frances Linder ..... Defendant
The State of Missouri to defendant Frances Linder:

You are hereby notified that an action has been commenced against you in the Circuit Court for the County of Pettis, State of Missouri the object and general nature of which is to dissolve the bonds of matrimony heretofore contracted between the plaintiff and defendant on the grounds as laid out in plaintiff's petition.

The names of all the parties to said suit are stated above in the caption hereof and the name and address of the attorney for plaintiff is Henry C. Salveter, Sedalia Trust Building, Sedalia, Missouri.

You are further notified that, unless you file an answer or other pleading or shall otherwise appear and defend against the aforesaid petition within 45 days after the 12th day of October 1950, judgment by default will be rendered against you.

It is ordered that a copy hereof be published according to law in the Sedalia Democrat, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Pettis, State of Missouri.

A true copy from the record.

Witness my hand and the seal of the circuit court this 11th day of October, 1950.

BRYAN HOWE,
(Seal) Circuit Clerk.

Irish Sink Navy, 19-10

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4 — (AP) — Thrice beaten Notre Dame took a tuck in its slipping gridiron prestige today, twice coming from behind to defeat Navy, 19 to 10.

The victory, scored before 71,074 fans in Cleveland's wind and rain swept lakefront stadium, evened the Irish season at three wins and three losses. The defeat was the fifth in six contests for the Middies.

The Irish climaxed two long drive with short touchdown passes by quarterback Bob Williams to take the lead in the third period and then added an insurance marker in the fourth session on a blocked punt and an 18-yard ground surge into the end zone.

It was Notre Dame's 19th win and 5th in a row over the Middies against four defeats and one tie in the uninterrupted series which started in 1927.

Navy played the Irish off their feet in the first period, never allowing them beyond their own 31 yard line, while twice the Navy banged in futile fashion near the Irish end zone.

KU Runs Over Utah, 39-26

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 4—(AP)—The Kansas Jayhawks' superior ground attack churned out a 39 to 26 football victory over the sparkling passing of Utah's Redskins today.

There was scoring in every period of the exciting game before a crowd of 13,111. The peak was a 74-yard sprint by Wade Stinson, Jayhawk halfback, through the Redskin line for one of his three touchdowns.

Quarterback Dave Cunningham made Utah ever-threatening with his passing. He threw for two touchdowns and made a 3rd himself on the ground.

But victory in the first game between the teams rode with the line-slashing of Stinson, fullback John Amberg and halfback Charles Hoag.

Texas Knocks the Mustangs From Unbeaten Ranks, 23-20

AUSTIN, Tex., No. 4—(AP)—Texas arose from the bitterness of five heartbreaking years today to knock down Southern Methodist, the nation's No. 1 team, 23-20, and roar saavagely to the pinnacle of the Southwest Conference.

The Longhorn line battered the Methodists from goal line to goal line and Ben Tompkins, the ace Texas T quarterback, fought fire with fire—the forward pass—as Texas stopped the great Kyle Rote's running and hampered "Flinging Freddie" Benners when the chips were down.

Benners Isn't Enough

Benners was great, had passing carrying the Methodists to all three of their touchdowns, but he was taken care of as never before by the terrific charging Texas ends and tackles.

At the finish Texas was still magnificent and Southern Methodist was a battered and weary crew.

Texas, rated no. 7 in the National Associated Press poll, committed few mistakes; Southern Methodist made plenty. Never before had SMU dropped so many passes. Texas clearly earned the victory. It snapped back after telling penalties. It fought at high pitch all afternoon.

Southern Methodist was undefeated and untied until today and for three years had won over Texas, twice when the conference championship was in the balance. Texas was unbeaten in conference play but had lost to Oklahoma 14-13 in an intersectional game.

Longhorns Lead Conference

The Longhorns thus are the last unbeaten team in the conference race and overwhelming favorites to rush on to the championship—their first in five year—and to play in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day in Dallas.

A crowd of 65,498 rocked and swayed with the gripping vicious game that brought the Methodists twice conference champions in the past three years, to defeat.

Win Over Buffs Gives Sooners Modern Record

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 4—(AP)—Oklahoma's great football wrecking crew ran into fierce resistance from a courageous Colorado team today, but the Sooners slashed through, 27-18, to set a modern-day gridiron record of 27 consecutive victories.

The Sooners, who haven't tasted defeat since the first game of the 1948 season, got a scare in the first period when Colorado's brazen Buffaloes crashed to the first touchdown, and Oklahoma didn't have a really comfortable moment the rest of the day.

Two touchdowns in the second quarter put Oklahoma out in front 13-6 but thereafter the hard-pressing Colorado team matched the mighty Sooners score for score to keep a record crowd of 29,500 constantly up on its toes.

Today's victory enabled Oklahoma, the nation's third-ranking team, to surpass the modern mark of 26 straight victories established by Cornell in 1921-24.

PROFESSIONAL GAMBLING IN SEDALIA

A Message from the Republican Candidate for Prosecuting Attorney

MIKE BOGUTSKI

The time has come for the voters of Pettis County to face facts. It is common knowledge that professional gambling has been permitted to operate openly in certain establishments in this city for the past 2 years. To be sure, there have been one or two arrests made of small-scale operators during that time, but examination of the record will clearly show that no arrests have been made of the select group of so-called big time operators who have made gambling an open, notorious, and highly profitable business in the City of Sedalia. I want it clearly understood what I mean by professional gambling. I want it clearly understood that I do not mean the harmless games which a group of friends play for pleasure, or the innocent games which are played at churches and fraternal associations for the purpose of raising funds for worth-while charities. I want it clearly understood that, by professional gambling I mean the establishments which operate in Sedalia with the express purpose of profiting at the expense of citizens of Sedalia who cannot control their desire to gamble.

In one instance, a prominent citizen of Sedalia filed a law suit against a certain well-known gambling establishment in the City of Sedalia to recover a large sum of money lost by him while gamblin' there. The laws of the State of Missouri permit recovery of gambling losses in such cases, not because they have any particular sympathy for those who lose, but because they want to provide a means for giving the prosecuting attorney information on the existence of gambling establishments so that he can take action against them. Pressure was promptly put on the individual bringing the suit which forced him to go into open court and dismiss his law suit over the objection of, and against the advice of, his attorney. In spite of the fact that the petition in this case is a public record in the Circuit Clerk's office and can be found in File No. 23988 there, no action whatsoever was ever taken by the prosecutor's office against the gambling establishment involved, and as a matter of fact that establishment continues to operate openly today. I make a solemn promise to you that, if I am elected prosecuting attorney, the proprietors of such gambling places as this one will either have to resort to using their business places for legal enterprise, or else they will have to go out of business.

There is also clear evidence in my possession that the "Numbers" Racket is operating in the City of Sedalia. This is the same racket which over a period of years has cost American families hundreds of millions of dollars. It is the same racket which in the City of New York was carried on as a multi-million dollar enterprise by racketeers under the protection of law enforcement officials during the 1930's, until the decent people of the City of New York rose up in honest indignation and elected a fearless prosecuting attorney, who was unobligated to any of the interests who were profiting from this racket. This prosecutor smashed the racket immediately and succeeded in sending the leading racketeers to the penitentiary. It is a racket that must be stamped out in Sedalia before Sedalia families are financially ruined by its existence. I promise you that it will not operate after I am elected to the prosecuting attorney's office.

MIKE BOGUTSKI
Republican Candidate for Prosecuting Attorney

Greece Seeks Return of Children Held Prisoner In Commie Nations

CHILDREN OF WAR: These Greek youngsters find haven in a day nursery in Athens, but thousands of others, Greece claims, are being held prisoner after Red guerrillas spirited them away.

By PETER EDSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

ATHENS, Greece —(NEA)— Greek children still held prisoner in Communist countries to the north is a paramount problem in Athens.

It has not caught on as an issue for popular indignation in the United States nor in the rest of the non-Communist world, although it has been kicking around for over two years.

Red guerrillas in northern Greece took the children across the Greek border into Yugoslavia, Albania, Bulgaria and Rumania. Some have been traced to Poland and Czechoslovakia by letters to their parents. Repeated demands by the Greek government, for their return, have been met with silence or evasion.

Top Greek claims have put the number at 28,000. But from this number certain categories must be subtracted.

Some may have died or been killed in guerrilla warfare. Some have now grown up. Some may be with their parents as willing or unwilling converts to communism behind the Iron Curtain. Some are now orphans, and there are no homes in Greece to which they can be returned.

Various reports have placed some 9000 in Yugoslavia, 5000 in Bulgaria, 3000 in Hungary, lesser numbers in Albania and Rumania. About 100 have been traced to Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The common belief is that these children are being held in camps in these countries, and that they are being given special privileges. The idea is that they will be educated and indoctrinated as Communist agents, so that when they grow up they will be a hard corps of agitators for another Greek revolution.

The big difficulty in trying to do anything about these captive children is that there is no international agency which can compel inspection and registration of all known cases, or which can plan for return to their homes. The United Nations has studied the question of the Greek children for two years, but is powerless to act.

The only place where the issue has been kept alive outside of Greece has been in Switzerland. There Paul Ladame, a professor of political science, radio commentator and columnist for Journaux de Geneve, has stirred up some 30,000 Swiss families to the point of offering to take one of the Greek children into their homes until a return to Greek homes can be arranged.

Dr. Ladame began a series of broadcasts on these child prisoners last January. He claims to have more than 100,000 letters on the subject of these children, which he plans to bring to New York this fall and put before the United Nations.

He made one trip to Yugoslavia during the summer, trying to get into one of the camps and trying to persuade the Yugoslav government to release the children held there. Marshal Tito wouldn't see him.

The Swiss press claims Marshal Tito is holding the children as hostages for bargaining in his efforts to get concessions in the port of Salonika, from Greece.

Yugoslavia insists it knows of only a few cases of such children within its borders, and that there are no suitable homes to which they could be returned in Greece.

The one person who, more than anyone else, has kept the issue of the Greek children alive is Queen Fredericki of Greece. Her voice is not heard loudly in UN councils. But it was her original suggestion that the Greek children be returned to Swiss homes until Greek homes could be made ready.

New Ethiopian Railroad Planned

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland —(AP)—A committee of French technicians is expected to leave here soon to survey a road-bed for an extension of the Franco-Ethiopian Railway Co. The new extension will cover approximately 310 kilometres and will connect Modjo—now on the 785-kilometre Djibouti to Addis Ababa line—to Lake Margaret to the south.

Colonists Planned for New Guinea

SINGAPORE—(AP)—Dutch New Guinea, will be thrown open to colonists from other parts of the world within five years, said its governor, Stephan Waardenburg.

"We will be able to open the doors of New Guinea when we have dealt with three of our major problems — malaria, housing and food," he declared.

Amendment No. 1 Needs Your Help

An important decision will be made by Missouri voters at the November 7 election. Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 1 raises the issue of whether, within certain limits, a majority of the votes should be able to make a decision on current school levies. The Amendment would allow the General Assembly to provide for approval of such levies by a majority vote. Maximum limits for levies to be approved by a majority vote are set by the Amendment. The General Assembly could provide any further reduction in limits it deems advisable. Levies approved by a majority vote would have to be re-submitted annually except in St. Louis, Kansas City, and St. Joseph, where they may be voted for two years to correspond to the holding of school elections.

The present Constitution requires that all levies in excess of those set by boards of education must be approved by two-thirds of those voting.

Majority rule, which has long been recognized as an inherent principal of American democracy, is not applied in our present procedure of voting school levies for current purposes. A majority vote is sufficient for the elections of all our officials. In our State Legislature and our National Congress a majority vote is required for action. Our legislative bodies would be hopelessly deadlocked if a two-thirds vote were required for a decision. For Democracy to function effectively majority rule is essential.

As a matter of actual practice other functions of government are not usually dependent upon voter approval for current financing.

Missourians would like to have educational opportunities for their children equal to those provided in other states. Yet most states do not place a similar handicap upon their schools in securing funds for current operation. In fourteen states, no vote of the people is required to levy taxes for the current expenses of schools. Among the thirty-four states where a vote of the people is required, Missouri is one of the nine states that require more than a majojrity vote. This Amendment would appear to bring Missouri in line with thirty-nine other states.

Because of the difficulty of voting levies by a two-thirds majority, where one vote against the levy is equal to two votes for the levy, many districts find it necessary to have more than one election. This is an added expense and the uncertainty and confusion that result from numerous elections impair the educational program.

The present set-up is made to measure for the 'aginers', the obstructionists and the disgruntled. The confused and the uninformed usually oppose anything proposed. To off-set one such vote requires two votes from public spirited and informed citizens.

Although a decision as important as determining the size of a school district or the extension of its boundaries is determined by majority vote, the levy to keep such districts functioning from year to year must be carried by a two-thirds majority vote.

Voting levies for current school purposes is not an extraordinary act that should require a two-thirds majority. We may adopt or change our State Constitution by majority. There are safeguards within the Amendment against possible abuse. There are limits within which the General Assembly may act. The General Assembly could enact further restrictions if deemed necessary. Levies, except in our three largest cities, would be re-submitted annually so that they would be constantly reviewed in terms of the needs of the schools and of current economic conditions. Present provisions of the Constitution would be unchanged, it would still require a two-thirds vote for all bond issues. The size of school levies would be determined by the voters. This Amendment would merely make it possible to establish democratic procedure for voting levies. Certainly the well-educated citizen is an essential to the survival of Democracy in peace as the well-equipped and trained soldier is in war. If we believe in Democracy we should be willing to practice it.

Congressman O'Konski Violates Corrupt Practices Act;

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON.—Shortly after elections kindly U.S. Attorney General Howard McGrath may have a test of the corrupt practices act laid on his doorstep which he isn't going to appreciate.

The corrupt practices act was passed in order to prevent candidates for public office from spending huge amounts of money, thus making it difficult for a poor man to be elected. However, candidates have got around the act by claiming they had no control over friends or independent committees who spent money for them without their knowledge. They could not be responsible, they said, for money which well-meaning boosters spent behind their backs.

Thanks to this dodge, thousands of dollars are being spent by both Democrats and Republicans in what is obviously a violation of the corrupt practices act. And not since hard-hitting Alex Campbell left the Justice department has there been any real attempt to prosecute.

In Wisconsin, however, there is now evidence of a clear-cut violation—by Congressman Alvin O'Konski, already famous for his nepotism, his income-tax finagling and his payroll juggling.

Smokescreen for $$

Officially, O'Konski spends little money on his election campaigns. His chief electioneering has been done by the "Veterans for O'Konski" club, which has spent money heavily.

President of the "Veterans for O'Konski" club is Wendell Johnson. And it now develops that Johnson is on O'Konski's congressional payroll in Washington for $218 a month. Actually Johnson doesn't work in Washington. He remains in Merrill, Wis., where he has an office at WLIN, the radio station owned by O'Konski, and has been the station manager.

This dispels any fiction that the Congressman doesn't know what Johnson as president of "The Veterans for O'Konski Club" is doing and how much money the club is spending. As a direct employee of the Congressman, drawing a salary paid by all the taxpayers, the usual dodge for violating the corrupt practices act blows up in smoke.

NOTE—Attorney General McGrath has had a clear-cut case of salary kickbacks against O'Konski for months but has failed to prosecute. The Congressman put members of a weekly newspaper staff in Hurley, Wis., on his congressional payroll, thereby reimbursing them for the purchase price of the paper. Thus the taxpayers actually paid for the purchase of O'Konski's newspaper. However, it looks as if the Justice department only likes to prosecute Congressmen who have gone after Communists —such as J. Parnell Thomas.

Merry-Go-Round

Senator Taft is reported gaining on Democratic Joe Ferguson in the last couple of weeks. . . . Congressman Clarence Brown, Taft's No. 1 Ohio brain truster, admits to friends: "In ten years I've never had such a tough fight." However, he'll probably win. . . . Congressman Ed Breen, ex-mayor of Dayton, may be the next Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio if he comes back to Congress with sufficient majority.

Protecting the President

The secret service has been uring the President, following the assassination attempt in front of Blair house, to give up his early-morning walks around the streets of downtown Washington.

They point out that this is the riskiest part of his daily curriculum, even though they have seven men with him. Actually the public doesn't realize that seven men are with him, because a couple are in front, two or three behind and others in an automobile.

However, Mr. Truman is most reluctant to change his habits. He enjoys this breath of fresh air when most people are not yet stirring. It is his only chance to see a little of his ordinary normal life, and among other things he likes to windowshop.

Once, while walking past the Grape jewelry shop on Connecticut avenue, for instance, he saw a pair of black and gold garters which caught his fancy—price $80. He sent for them.

List of Possible Assassins

The secret service has long kept a file on those who might attempt violence against the President, and immediately after the Blair house attempt they checked through the file—which totals 50,000 names. The two Puerto Ricans were not on the list.

Almost 99 per cent of the list are crackpots who have written threatening, obscene or objectionable letters to the President. What hasn't gotten into the papers, however, is that several have actually pocketed guns and tried to get into the White House.

The secret service isn't talking about these cases, except to say that the armed callers and other dangerous cases are hustled to St. Elizabeths mental hospital.

All crackpot letters are carefully screened by the secret service's protective research section, and are indexed 28 different ways—by type, script, print, color, paper, wording, etc. Thus even the anonymous letters can be associated with known writers.

These letters pour into the White House at a rate of more than 1,000 per month. However, only the most dangerous are thoroughly investigated. Last year, the secret service made field investigations on 2,600 of the worst cases.

Significantly, in times of stress the number of crackpot letters shoots up.

NOTE—In spite of all these precautions, the secret service had not investigated the Puerto Rican Nationalists since the anti-America outbreaks in Puerto Rico. This was admitted to this column at first by a secret service spokesman, who later changed his story and insisted that he simply had "no comment." As a result, the secret service did not have a line on the two attempted assassins, Oscar Collazo and Grizelio Torresola, though Torresola was one of the ringleaders of the terrorist organization in this country.

McCarthy Rides Again

If there is any bad feature to the fact that the Korean war now seems to be coming rapidly to an end, it is that it leaves American front pages open once more to the onslaughts of Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin.

Sensing his opportunity, the senator has already stepped up his pace. Come V-K day and he'll probably be in full stride, hell bent to break his spring record for charges made and not proved.

His new flush of activity led him to include Robert Maynard Hutchins, chancellor of the University of Chicago, on his list of dangerous men. Probably no more confirmed anti-totalitarian exists in this country than Hutchins. And his answer to the charge ought to have set the senator back a step or two:

"I should think Senator McCarthy would want to prove the charges he has already made before making any more."

WHY I SHOULD GIVE MY ALLEGIANCE TO THE CHURCH

In order to give full inner consent to allegiance to the Church, perhaps you can take these steps:

1. There is no such thing as solitary religion. If it is solitary, it is not religion, for Jesus expressed religion as love to God and love to man. There can be no love to man unless life is lived out in relationships. "To be is to be in relations." The Christian's life can be lived only in the give-and-take of corporate relationships.

2. The Christian Church is founded on a necessity in human nature. The three great driving urges are self, sex, and the herd. The herd, or social drive or instinct, is frustrated if I do not work out my spiritual life in a corporate fellowship. If the Church were wiped out today it would have to be replaced tomorrow by something similar for human nature demands it. Those who try to cultivate their spiritual lives alone, apart from the Church, are attempting to live a vertical spiritual life, without the horizontal—they are attempting the impossible. Human nature is against it.

3. The Church, in a sense, is an extension of the life of the Incarnation. I say "in a sense," for there was only once when "the Word became flesh;" but the Church attempts, in varying degrees, to reincarnate that Word in corporate relationships. It is the only group in human society living not for its own purposes, but for the purpose of manifesting in time an Eternal Purpose.

4. With all its faults the Church is the best serving institution on earth. It has many critics, but no rivals in the work of human redemption. It has filled the world with schools, hospitals, orphan, leper, and blind asylums and churches. There isn't a spot on earth where, if it is free to do so, it hasn't done so. Christians are people who care.

And they are people who care on a world scale—they care for a man as a man, apart from race, birth, and color.

O God, I thank Thee that Thou hast a Family, and that I can belong to that Family. Make me a good member of that Family. May the Family spirit be in all I do and think and say. For I want others to love this Family. Help me to bring to the Family the constructive spirit of love and mutual aid. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Q. and A.

You and the Service

WASHINGTON — (N E A) —

Q. I was in the Navy during World War II. Since getting out I have been with the Army organized reserve. If I get a call to active duty can I go into the Navy? What do you suggest that I do?

A. If you get a call to active duty you'll go in the Army, period. The Army does not maintain its organized reserve corps to supply men to the Navy. I suggest that when you finish any active duty again, you make up your mind what service you would like to get into in case of another emergency, and join its reserve corps.

Q. My family and teachers have always said I was the nervous delicate type. I haven't had a draft notice yet, but I expect one soon. Suppose the doctors ignore my condition and I have to go into the service. Who will take care of me in case I am threatened with a collapse?

A. They have great big sergeants in the Army just to look after the nervous delicate types. You can locate him immediately by asking for the "top kick."

Q. I am a member of a National Guard Unit, but have been offered a vacancy in the Army's organized reserve. Can I transfer?

A. No.

Q. I was discharged from the Marine Corps in 1946 after serving from 1943. Am I now considered to be in the inactive Marine Corps Reserve? Or Am I subject to the draft?

A. If you signed up for the reserves when you were discharged you are in the reserves. If you didn't sign up for the reserves you are not. Your service will keep you out of the draft.

Q. Are they planning on taking veterans over 25 in the draft soon?

A. There has been some talk about it, but the law will have to be changed to do this.

Smart Wife Avoids Asking Her Husband These Questions

A smart wife never asks a husband:

How he likes the new dress on which he has so far made no comment. (She'll either get the unpleasant truth or else feel his praise is so feeble it becomes an insult.)

"Who was that, Dear?" when he comes back from the telephone and makes no comment on the conversation he has just had. (Nothing makes a man feel less like a man of affairs than to have to account to his wife for every telephone call he receives at home.)

"What do you think of my getting my hair cut short?"—if she really wants and intends to have it cut. (If she doesn't ask then he can't get hurt because she ignored his wishes—and men automatically resist any new style a wife talks about before adopting.)

"What in the world made you so late?" when he comes home late to dinner. (Don't ask and he'll feel compelled to explain all. Ask and he'll resent having to explain.)

Of Course He Loves You

"Do you love me?" (If you have to ask, the answer you get won't mean much, and besides it may start him wondering if he really does. It's always wiser for a woman to act as if, of course, her husband loves her.)

"Do you notice anything different about this room?"—after she's knocked herself out getting the new draperies up or switching the furniture around. (If he hasn't noticed the difference, his having to try to figure out what has been done will only exasperate his wife and make him wish she wouldn't make him play guessing games.)

"What were you talking to that blonde about for so long over in the corner?" when they're on their way home from a party. (If the answer to that is interesting, she'll never hear the right answer.)

Or any question at all while he is buried in the sports page or reading his favorite comics.

THE STORY: Maggie Thorne is smothered to death in her bed and all her household, including her nephew Peter, who came home on the eve of the crime, are suspects. Next her sister, Agatha, 74, is pushed down a stairway, but escapes serious injury. Young Leeana, grandniece of the murder victim, realizes that Peter's brother Jasper and Jasper's wife Sondra are not telling all the truth. After the inquest Leeana hurries home. When she arrives she is alone and afraid. She calls Sheriff Purdy who tells her she is in danger. As she leaves the house, she meets Peter coming up the hill. She runs in frenzy, then feels herself falling.

LEEANA was being lifted, gently, and carried back up the hill by Peter. It didn't seem possible. Peter should have killed her.

Then she heard Mart Preston's voice and knew why Peter was being so considerate. Mart had come, as the sheriff had said he would. Everything was all right now . . . pain etched its mark on her thoughts as Peter Thorne stumbled and jerked her against him, protectively. Leeana opened her eyes.

"I—I'm all right," she whispered.

"Sure you are," Peter said heartily, "but I'll carry you anyway." To Martin he shouted, "She's conscious. She's okay."

"After a spill like that?" Mart sounded dubious.

"Just a fall." Peter carefully set Leeana on her feet, taking care to steady her. "Oke, Leeana?" he asked.

She nodded weakly. "I—tripped."

Peter snorted. "You made a nitwit of yourself, cousin, running from me like that." He stopped, shocked understanding coming over his face like a black shadow. "You're afraid of me, aren't you?"

Mart was watching Peter. Leeana saw suspicion unveil itself in his eyes, until it seemed that Peter, too, must see. But Peter laughed, self-consciously, and shrugged.

"Oh, well, I had no business playing the knight in shining armor," he said lightly. "That's more your style, Preston."

Leeana flexed her aching shoulder, which seemed to be the extent of her injuries. She looked at Peter and all the terror that had set off her headlong flight returned, magnified by Martin's obvious belief that Peter had come back to Thorne Hill on a mission that needed explaining."

"Why," he asked quickly, "did you come alone by bus?"

Peter thrust his hands deep into his pockets. "You won't believe me"—he smiled, disarmingly—"but I came to save Cousin Leeana. I did, too, didn't I?"

"You almost made me break my neck!"

"Your own fault, cousin dear," Peter retorted. "You should trust me."

Leeana felt as angry as Deputy Preston looked. Peter Thorne had no right to torment them with his knowledge—of what? Murder?

"Are you trying to tell us you know who killed Miss Maggie?"

"I'm not telling you anything, Preston! Except this: You're barking up the wrong tree."

"Who's up the right one, then?"

"I'm not saying that, either."

Peter turned on his heel and stalked off, angling across the steep, rocky hillside toward the house.

AFTER Peter was out of earshot, Leeana said, "Mart, I'm afraid of Peter. That's why I ran. I—I had talked to Purdy and—well, he scared the socks off me. I couldn't stand that house another minute! Then when Peter got off the bus—"

"You went off the deep end," Mart finished for her, soberly. "But you mustn't, Leeana. The murderer wants you to lose your head. Be off-guard. Don't give him a chance, Leeana." His hand on her arm tightened, his voice took on a note of urgency.

Above them a car crept slowly around the hairpin turns of the drive. Sondra was driving. "Sondra doesn't usually drive slowly like that. She whizzes."

"She also twists the truth to suit her own fancy," Mart said. "I'd give a lot to know why she changed her mind about going to New York for keeps. Peter's nettling her doesn't help. Peter doesn't help anybody, not even you, my sweet. He bends over backward to cast suspicion—and succeeds. You can't help feel that where there's smoke there's fire, especially in Sondra's case."

They watched the red car out of sight behind low cedars near the house.

"Sondra hates everyone but Sondra," Mart mused. "She was afraid of Miss Maggie. She despises Jasper for his spinelessness, Peter for his cunning. Because he is smarter than she—smart enough, at least, to elude her back in those days when Sondra was on the lookout for a man. Jasper fooled her, or rather the Thorne name did. She thought he, as Peter's elder brother, would be the guiding hand in the family finances. But she reckoned without Miss Maggie—so came murder. It could be."

LEEANA nodded. She said, irrelevantly, "I still think it was Peter whom Mrs. Carstairs saw in Jap's room."

"Could be. But—why?"

Temporarily stymied, Leeana let it go. They were almost to the house now anyhow, and she didn't want to chance being overheard. "I'll talk to Carsty, Mart."

"You'll do nothing of the kind!"

"But she might tell me. Besides, it isn't Mrs. Carstairs. You know that, Mart."

"Do I?" Deputy Preston asked bleakly. "I don't know anything, Leeana. Neither do you. Just don't start trusting people. Not," he added softly, "until after tonight."

"Not even after tonight," Leeana amended. Then, as they went into the house, "Will I—know you're there, Mart?"

"I'll be there."

"All right, Mart. But if you're not," she forced a flippant smile to mask the icy fear that rose in her throat, "I'll never speak to you again."

COMICS BLAST "KIM BUCK-TOO" — Above is an excerpt from an American military intelligence leaflet designed to tell the North Korean people the truth about their Red bosses. Target of the cartoon is Korean Red leader Kim Il Sung (tagged "Kim Buck-Too" by General MacArthur). In the sketch Kim, who took the name of a long-dead Korean hero, agrees that his people want peace, but, he says, "the Communist Party must have war in order to keep its power in Korea."

SUPPORT THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY

One of the most sincere and loveable men in Congress is George H. Christopher, running for re-election from Missouri's Sixth District. With the exception of a very short time spent in Oklahoma and Illinois, Christopher has spent virtually his entire life on a farm in Bates County. Born in 1888 in Butler, Mo., Christopher was educated in the Bates County Public Schools and was graduated from Hill's Business College at Sedalia, Mo. In 1913 he married Miss Lelia Poore and they have seven sons and two daughters. Time after time Christopher has gone to bat for the farmer on the floor of the House of Representatives. Never did he speak with more feeling that he did after the Senate Republicans had voted against appropriating money for the farm price support program. Christopher said, "Their action was consistent, and the party was running true to form. The 80th Congress, a Republican Congress, had stripped the Commodity Credit Corporation of its power to buy, build, or lease storage for the farmers' grain held under Government loan. If that restriction had not been repealed by the present Congress, the price-support program for American agriculture would have been sabotaged and ruined. How can any American farmer ever again vote a Republican ticket?

IT'S MORE THAN A PARTY

The Democratic Party is more than a party–it's another name for the jobless man given work . . .the farmer whose land was saved . . . the laborer with increased wages . . . the old folks with security in twilight days . . . the youth offered education's boon . . . the business man pulled back from the brink of ruin . . .the home owner who rocks peacefully on his own porch . . . the dependent child and needy with a new lease on life . . . the countless millions of yesterday's discouraged people who today have renewed courage and confidence –that's the Democratic Party!

Be Sure You Vote Straight Democratic November 7th.

THOMAS C. HENNINGS, JR.
Democratic Candidate for U. S. Senate

Here are 10 good reasons why Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., Democrat, should be elected to the United States Senate on November 7th:

1. Tom Hennings was born and reared in the State of Missouri. He knows Missourians and understands their needs.
2. Tom Hennings is a man of wide experience, education, and ability, integrity and courage.
3. Tom Hennings enjoys the esteem and confidence of men and women of every walk and station of life—regardless of political affiliation.
4. Tom Hennings is not the candidate of any one man, organization, or group —so he can render fair and impartial service to all.
5. Tom Hennings will give Missouri and the Nation clean and capable and courageous service—without fear and without favor.
6. Tom Hennings' public record is one of achievement—a record without a blemish. It is a record of devotion to the principles of honesty and square-dealing, of devotion to duty and patriotic service.
7. Tom Hennings has ever been a close student of our national government and always has advocated strict economy and maximum efficiency in public office.
8. Tom Hennings while a member of Congress was among the first to advocate and support laws beneficial to the aged; the dependent children and the unemployed.
9. Tom Hennings by his votes in Congress has proven himself to be a staunch friend of the schools, of agriculture, of labor, of business, small and large, and the common man.
10. Tom Hennings, a war veteran himself, is vitally interested in the welfare of our veterans, and when elected to the United States Senate his voice and vote will ever be found on the side of those countless millions who have fought for their country. In truth, he always will be found fighting for the people's interest.

The Candidates on the Democratic Ticket are all qualified for the office they seek.

If elected, they pledge to serve for the good of all the people of this county.

Costly Royalty

BRUSSELS —(AP)—Twenty-year-old Prince Baudouin, Belgium's Prince Royal, chief of state, is to get 30 million Belgian francs a year ($600,000) from the nation. Part is to be used for maintenance of estates put at his disposal by the Belgian government, such as the royal palace of Brussels.

King Leopold is to get six million francs ($120,000) while former Prince Regent Charles and Queen Mother Elizabeth both get four million ($80,000). A residential estate is also to be given to Prince Charles. It is called Argenteuil near the famous battlefield of Waterloo about ten miles from Brussels.

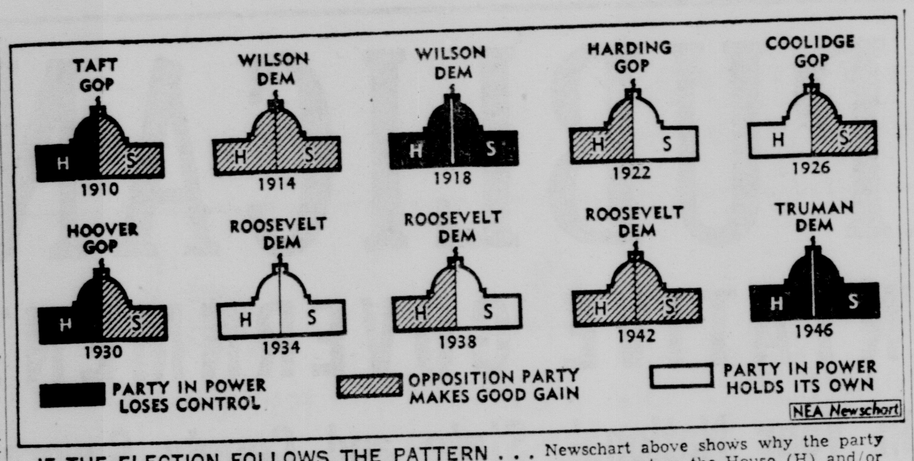
Republican Candidate for Presiding Judge County Court

General Election Nov. 7th.



IF THE ELECTION FOLLOWS THE PATTERN . . . Newschart above shows why the party out of power is the odds-on favorite to make strong gains or even capture the House (H) and/or Senate (S) in off-year election battles. The President's party has lost strength in Congress at every mid-term election since the Civil War save one. That was in 1934 when the late F. D. R. led the Democrats to an astonishing rout of the GOP. This year Republicans are banking on that "law" to shrink the Dems' majority in Congress to a minority.

Republicans had a depression to explain and the Democratic donkey saw his chance for revenge after living through the Twenties on short political rations. Republican representation in the House slumped to 214 seats as the Democrats got 220, giving them a slim majority.

The elephant sniffed the comeback trail but the donkey didn't give him peanuts. Dems boosted their representation to 322 seats out of a possible 435 and the GOP was left with only 103. This was the high-water mark for the New Deal and the donkey serenade was a happy one.

The next off-year election saw the elephant, his head "bloody but unbowed," able to hit back at the surprised donkey. Voters gave the GOP 169 seats but kept the Dems in with 262. "Give me time, I'll ruin that miserable hay-burner," trumpeted the bruised elephant.

Four years later he almost did. Republicans promised to keep New Deal reforms, said they could do a better job of administering them. A lot of voters wanted to give them the chance and they closed the big gap. In that year, GOP took 209 seats but Dems won with 222.

Story-writers tell us an elephant never forgets and this one certainly didn't. After 14 years in the wilderness, the GOP battered the Dems into temporary submission. It was a great year for Republicans, they got 246 seats, left the bewildered opposition with only 188.

As usual, the boys are at it again this year. The elephant says he has a good chance, backed by the off-year tradition, to take over the lower House. The donkey says he broke tradition in 1934 and can do it again. It's anybody's guess as to the winner.

Woodpeckers Have Company

DALLAS, Texas —(AP)— Texas woodpeckers are finding there is no privacy atop power line poles.

One of the duties of Ed Slover is to look for woodpecker holes in poles as he flies 2,600 miles of Texas Power and Light Co. high tension lines in his single engined plane. As he risks his life almost daily at an altitude of 48 feet or less, he also looks for broken insulators, sagging wires and other indications of trouble.

Slover uses a recording device to report trouble as he flies. When he lands, the record is turned over to maintenance crews.

United Nations Class

EMORY, Ga. —(AP)— Need some tongue-twisting exercises? Try Associate Professor George Neely's roll call as a starter.

Neely, who teaches English to foreign students at Emory University, struggles from Tawingwang Dutivabodhi, through Shigemitsu Kuriyama, to Klaus Zelle, as he checks attendance of the 28 foreign students from 14 countries.

It's not all one-sided however, for while the students perfect their English the professor is learning a few foreign words in exchange. Students claim he can now say "pop quiz" in Japanese, Siamese, Swedish, and Portuguese.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS

On receipt of his ballot the voter shall forthwith, and without leaving the enclosed space retire alone to one of the voting booths so provided, and shall prepare his ballot for voting in the following manner: Should the voter desire to vote a "straight" party ticket he shall place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below the party name. If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates on more than one party ticket, by voting what is commonly called a "split ticket," he may place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below one party name and mark cross (X) marks in the squares at the left of the names of candidates on other tickets for whom he wishes to vote. If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates whose name or names do not appear on the printed ballot he may do so by drawing a line through the printed name of candidate for such office, and writing below such cancelled name the name of the person for whom he desires to vote, and placing a cross mark in the square at the left of such name. The squares so marked shall take precedence over the cross marked in the circle. Where there are two or more candidates for like office in a group a cross (X) mark in the square to the left of a candidate's name, automatically votes against the candidate whose name appears within the same horizontal lines in the column under the circle in which appears the cross (X) mark unless the voter indicates another candidate, to be voted against by drawing a line through such candidate's name. All candidates of the party whose circle is marked shall be counted as voted for excepting where squares are crossed preceding the names of the candidates in other columns if two or more candidates for the same office are thus designated, neither shall be counted. If the cross (X) is not placed in the circle immediately below the party name at the head of the column, but does appear in the squares opposite the various candidates' names, then only these names shall be counted for, and none other. A cross (X) mark is any line crossing any other line at any angle within the voting space, and no ballot shall be declared void because a cross (X) mark therein is irregular in form. It shall not be lawful to deface or tear a ballot in any manner nor to erase any printed name "except as provided above in this section," figure, word or letter therefrom nor to erase any mark made thereon by such voter, nor inclose in the folded ballot any other paper or any article. If the voter deface or tear a ballot, or wrongly mark the name or make an erasure therein he may obtain one additional ballot on returning to the ballot clerk the one so defaced or wrongly marked. A ballot placed in the ballot box without any marks shall not be counted. Ballots shall be counted only for the person for whom the marks thereon are applicable; when a voter shall place a mark against two or more names for the same office, and only one candidate is to be chosen for the office none of the candidates shall be deemed to have been voted for and the ballots shall not be counted for either such candidate. Before leaving the booth the voter shall fold his ballot in such a manner as to conceal his marks thereon. He shall mark his ballot without undue delay. He shall then hand the ballot to the judge of election selected to take ballots, who shall number the ballot and deposit it in the ballot box. The voter shall quit and leave said enclosed place as soon as possible.

Preliminary Report

ROCK FALLS, Ill. — (AP) —It was early morning when the telephone rang in the local fire station.

"My stove blew up; my house is on fire," the caller said. "Maybe I won't need you —I'll call again if I do."

The unidentified caller — true to his word — phoned back 15 minutes later and told the alerted firemen that the blaze was out.

Adams Truck & Tractor Co.

LET IT SNOW! LET IT BLOW!
A "WINTER-IZED" truck can take it and keep on rolling!

Trucks have to keep going—as long as the roads are open! The best way to protect your truck against the hazards of winter driving is to bring it in for our complete, bumper-to-bumper "Winter-izing" service.

We'll change the oil to a winter grade, of course. And we'll add anti-freeze after cleaning out the cooling system. But we'll do much more.

We'll go over the entire engine to make sure it's running right. We'll lubricate the entire running gear with correct grade of lubricants and check the brakes and springs. And we'll be on the lookout for things that might cause trouble later on.

For the best "Winter-izing" job in town, bring your truck here!

P.S. We have a complete line of International-approved winter accessories, too.

RE-ELECT
GEORGE H. CHRISTOPHER
TO CONGRESS

He knows a continuation of farm price supports at 90% of parity is absolutely essential for the continued prosperity in the 6th District, not only for the farmers, but for the laboring man, the business and professional as well.

He knows that an adequate soil conservation program is essential if we and our posterity expect to continue to eat well and live well.

He knows that the Rural Electric Cooperatives have a legal and moral right to hitch directly to the flood control dams and obtain cheap current without paying tribute to the power trust. He knows that if the power trust is successful in its attempt to prevent REA from obtaining current direct from these dams, as they are now seeking to do by their suit against REA, the farmers of Missouri will pay tribute to the power trust for all time to come.

He has been fearlessly fighting our battles. He has gone all out for the things the people of the Sixth District need. His record is 100% for the men and women who do the work, produce the food and render the services in Western Missouri. Show your appreciation by your support on November 7th.

Pants Make The Austrian

VIENNA —(AP)— The pride and poy of most Austrian males is a pair of short, thigh-length leather pants which, through daily use and wear, are so stiff they will stand upright if you set them on the floor. These are "Lederhosen." For hundreds of years, they were a national peasant costume. In recent years, they have made their way to the cities as a summer outfit. Even the Austrian Chancellor wears them.

Much to the shock of Austrian men, a woman editorial writer in a Vienna socialist newspaper now has bitterly denounced them as a national evil.

"With a people in Lederhosen, anything can be done, provided it is primitive and lacks spirit and culture. Austrians in Lederhosen supported Hitler in 1938," she said. "One day, perhaps, Austrians in Lederhosen will do their national dance in front of the Kremlin."

A Viennese in a particularly black pair of Lederhosen replied bitterly:

"She doesn't know what she is talking about."

Hallowe'en Party By P-T Club

The Parent-Teacher club of Cartwright school combined their October meeting with a Hallowe'en party, with Mrs. Myron Harper as program director. Nancy Major, Danny Kearney, Mrs. J. E. Kent and Raymond Hurt received recognition for the best costumes. Games were played, and the evening closed with refreshments of popcorn and apples being served.

Any atomic superbomb that could be constructed on the surface of the earth is a mild firecracker compared with with the tremendous explosions in the atmosphere of the sun.

Into The Navy

J. D. Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wells, has enlisted in the U. S. Navy for four years and is now in boot training at San Diego, Calif. He is 17 years old and a senior in Smith-Cotton high school.

Achievement Day Report Is Given

Mrs. Kenneth Wilde was hostess to the Mount Carmel Homemakers Club for the October meeting.

Ten members were present and visitors were Mrs. Mary Hatfield, Mrs. Warren Wilde, Mrs. Alam Stormer and Mrs. Jim Watring, who became a member of the club.

A dinner was served after which the meeting was opened by Mrs. Clint Akins, secretary.

After the singing of three songs by the group Mrs. Don Beeman gave a report on Achievement Day at Versailles and Mrs. Jesse Hull gave a demonstration on washing sweaters and fine fabrics.

Mrs. Wilde was given a kitchen shower.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Don Beeman.

Halloween Party By Oak Point Club

The Oak Point Extension Club sponsored a Hallowe'en party October 27 to which the community was invited at the school.

Many who attended were in costume, with the winner for the best costume being Mrs. Norman GGibson, first, and Mrs. Ralph Minor second, in the adult class, and Sara Jane Curtis, first, Eddy Minor second and Alvin Martin third in the children's class.

Games were played, after which refreshments were served.
